'Obscene' oil profits loom, Jackson charges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson charged today that the big oil companies will earn "obscene" profits because the administration is violating federal law.

The Washington Democrat, with his Interior Committee beginning final action on a standby emergency energy bill, charged the administration is violating the existing Petroleum Allocation Act by "refusing to impose controls on all oil prices as required by law."

As a result, he said, first quarter 1974 oil profits "will rise to obscene levels."

Jackson cited the ability of a foreign subsidiary of a U.S. oil company to tack $2-$4 per barrel onto the price it charges the parent company —thus enabling the parent firm to report a cost increase in crude oil and win government permission for a price hike.

"This is self-dealing. It enables the major companies to have the benefit of windfall profits abroad that they are denied in the United States," Jackson said.

"The major oil companies are getting away with this practice because this administration is sitting on its hands ... (it) ignores the law and invites the companies to impose artificially higher prices on the consumer and pocket fatter profits for themselves."

In other energy developments:

—The Council on Environmental Quality reported to President Nixon that the benefits of oil drillings off the Atlantic coast are worth the environmental risks. Nixon promised last year to delay leasing drilling rights in the Atlantic and Gulf of Alaska until the council reported to him on the environmental effects of the operations.

—Responding to a request by Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., the Federal Energy Office said that 102 of its 2,030 employes were former members of the oil industry. A spokesman said they were needed because of their knowledge of the complex oil industry. But Washington lawyer Martin Lobel, who represents five states on energy matters, criticized the FEO for "turning to the very industry that's being regulated."

Speaking to a conference of the AFL-CIO's Building and Construction Trades Department, Jackson said the administration has "resolved all oil price questions against the consumer and in favor of the companies" by permitting international oil firms "the benefit of mind-boggling loopholes, while it focuses price control enforcement efforts on the neighborhood gas station and the small businessman."

The bill pending before Jackson's committee would forbid major oil companies to claim higher costs for crude oil than actually paid by their foreign subsidiaries. This provision was substituted for a rollback in oil prices that prompted President Nixon to veto earlier energy legislation.

DRIVER DIES IN CRASH

Robert Guerra, 33, Bloomington, died in this car late Saturday night when it apparently crossed the center divider of Archibald Avenue near Mission Boulevard and collided head on with the van truck pictured in the background. Police said the driver of the car may have fallen asleep at the wheel.

Court upholds bank records on customers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today upheld a federal law which requires banks to maintain detailed records of customer checking accounts.

By a vote of 6 to 3, the court upheld the Bank Secrecy Act of 1970. The challenge to the law was made on the grounds it enabled the government — through the banks—to invade the privacy of citizens.

The law, passed partly to combat organized crime, requires banks to keep records of their customers' identities as well as microfilm copies of all their checks. It also requires banks to report money transfers of $5,000 or more out of the country.

In other decisions, the court:

—Upheld by a 7 to 2 decision the right of a New York village to zone to prohibit a group of six students of mixed sex from living together in the same house.

—Upheld a lower court ruling that ordinances against transvestism — men dressing like women and vice versa— were legal. The court upheld a state of Texas argument that the Houston "disguise ordinance" helped protect survival of the race by banning homosexual guises.

—Upheld the conviction of a New York man who drugged young women with what they thought was a substance to harden their fingernails, then sexually assaulted them.

—Upheld the conviction of a man for willfully filing false income tax returns despite the fact he was denied access during his trial to the report of the Internal Revenue Special agent who interviewed him. The court said that although the man had a right to see the report, it actually contained nothing more than what the agent testified in court.

The American Civil Liberties Union and others challenged the Bank Secrecy Act on grounds it was an invasion of privacy and could be used to identify an individual's political and social affiliations.

More riding buses on 1st day of 25-cent plan

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — An increase in the number of Los Angeles County bus riders was reported today in the first few hours of the new 25-cent fare program by the Rapid Transit System.

One RTD official said patronage appeared to be up between 10-30 per cent, although some lines showed no increase.

In other areas, according to another observer, rider traffic was up as much as 50 per cent.

The bus station shared by RTD and Greyhound lines in the downtown area was "very crowded" with new riders, but no major problems were reported anywhere in the system, an RTD spokesman said.

The $9.6 million test to reduce automobile traffic from freeways and city streets by reducing bus rates will continue for three months.

The bargain fare will be in effect Monday through Saturdays, with Sunday's fare continuing to a dime.

Already some 500,000 people travel the Southern California Rapid Transit District's buses each day and there were estimates that from 100,000 to 300,000 more would join them because of the lowered fare.

While some fear that a rush of new commuters could cause insurmountable problems, SCRTD General Manager Jack Gilstrap cautioned the public to be patient if problems develop.

"It's a whole new kind of service and we'll just have to feel our way along," he said.

Gilstrap said he thought increased commuter demand would be gradual, rising to about 100,000 at the end of the three month trial.

Six municipally owned bus systems in the Los Angeles County bus system also inaugurate 25-cent fares today.

"It's a chance to prove that county transit can work," Thomas Neusom, president of the RTD, said of the new fares.

To accommodate anticipated increases in demand the district added another 150 buses to the service of which 100 were pulled from storage and refurbished. Some were put on heavily used commuter routes and others will serve on a standby basis.

Gilstrap said the SCRTD didn't expect to make a profit from the program, pointing out that "the benefits lie not in profit but in service for those who cannot, or choose not to, use their cars."

One a Los Serranos man

2 killed in weekend traffic crashes

A Los Serranos and a Bloomington man were killed late Saturday night in traffic accidents in Ontario and Brea.

The victims were Roger L. Stout, 44, of 15689 Monterey St., Los Serranos, and Robert Paustino Guerra, 33, of 9286 Ironwood Ave., Bloomington.

In Ontario, Guerra's small foreign car collided head on with a van truck on Archibald Avenue near Mission Boulevard about 10:30 p.m.

Police said that Guerra's car apparently drifted over the center divider of the highway just prior to the collision.

The driver of the van, Raymond Olen Brown, 22, of 409 W. Ralston St., Ontario was also injured. Brown was given emergency treatment at San Antonio Community Hospital and later transferred to Kaiser's Fontana Hospital where he is listed in satisfactory condition this morning.

Guerra was pronounced dead on arrival.

Police said that Brown, driving his truck south on Archibald Avenue saw Guerra's car cross the center divider in the opposing lane. Brown swerved his vehicle in a futile attempt to avoid a collision.

The impact spun the small foreign car around and pushed the van over on its side.

In Brea, Stout was killed in a head on collision on Carbon Canyon Road.

The accident, said police, occurred when Stout tried to pass another vehicle and collided with a car driven by an Inglewood man.

Stout was pronounced dead on arrival at Placentia Linda Hospital. The other driver suffered only minor injuries.

Stout was born Aug. 23, 1929 in Missouri and had lived in California since 1942. He was a precision grinder for Pomona Precision Grinding Co.

Surviving him are three sons, Douglas of Fort Rucker, Ala., Van of Orange and Neil of Chino, and their mother, Blossom Mallet of Orange; two brothers, Clifford of San Jose and James of Bullhead City, Ariz.; a sister, Judith K. Stover of Corona, and his mother, Alice L. Stout of Westminster.

Graveside services will be held Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. at Harbor Rest Memorial Park in Costa Mesa.

Brown Colonial Mortuary, Santa Ana, is in charge of arrangements.

Keystone Kops and robbers chase rounds up 1 suspect

FONTANA (UPI) — A Keystone Kops and robbers chase ended today with one suspect in jail, another at large, a police car burned to a cinder and an officer suffering cuts and bruises.

Police described the chain of events this way:

Two robbers held up a supermarket, taking $4,000 from cash registers and a safe. They also took store manager Steve Bacor's car keys at gunpoint and drove off.

In the store at the time was Fontana Police Lt. Ben Abernathy who telephoned for help.

A patrol car roared up, Abernathy leaped in and the chase was on.

When the getaway car slowed for a corner one of the thieves jumped out, dropped the sack of money and fired a sawed-off shotgun at Abernathy who returned fire. Both missed.

The robber legged it through a residential neighborhood, over fences and across yards with Abernathy in hot pursuit. The bandit ran through the front door and out the back of one house. Abernathy followed.

The felon ran through a second house, held his shotgun on the homeowner, took his car keys and fled on wheels for the second time. He is still at large.

Meanwhile three patrol cars chased the first automobile onto the grounds of the Kaiser Steel plant.

Officer Greg Thurman, at the wheel of the leading patrol car, crashed into the stolen store manager's vehicle. Thurman's police cruiser plunged into a ditch and burned. It was destroyed.

The suspect's car was wrecked, allowing other officers to capture Theodore Winslow, 40, of Crestline, who was booked on charges of armed robbery and assault to commit murder.

Most of the $4,000 was recovered, "except for some that might have blown away," police reported. Officer Thurman was treated for cuts and bruises at a nearby hospital.

Abernathy organized search teams for the second suspect who was described as tall, "a very fast runner and a good jumper."

Sales tax rises to 6 cents

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The see-saw California sales tax increase jumped permanently by one-cent on the dollar today when a six-month-long respite from the higher levy expired.

Virtually everything except groceries and prescription medicines costs more than it did Sunday.

At 12:01 a.m., the statewide sales tax increased from 5 to 6 cents on-the-dollar everywhere but in the Bay Area Rapid Transit District counties of San Francisco, Alameda and Contra Costa. In those counties, it jumped from 5 ½ to 6 ½ cents.

Under the new tax, purchasers of a new $3,500 automobile pay $210 in sales tax instead of $175 in counties outside the BART district. A $20 pair of shoes costs $21.20 instead of $21 under the old levy.

The increased tax, which had been suspended for six months to help consume a $826 million tax surplus, is estimated to produce $600 million a year in revenue which is committed to financing property tax relief enacted in 1972.

The penny-per-dollar increase originally took effect on July 1 when Gov. Ronald Reagan and the legislature failed to agree on how to return the surplus to both sales and income taxpayers.

Later in the summer, they did agree, and the tax was rolled back from 6 cents to a nickel on-the-dollar Oct. 1 for six months. This is estimated to have consumed about $324 million of the surplus.

Coupled with the roll back was a one-time reduction in state income taxes, ranging from 20 to 35 per cent on 1973 returns. The income tax cut will have consumed about $380 million.

The sales tax increase will produce about $600 million a year for reimbursement to local government agencies for loss of revenue they otherwise would have suffered as the result of property tax reductions ordered by Reagan and the legislature.

The Senate Finance Committee last week killed a bill to delay imposition of the increase until June 1. Both administration fiscal experts and the legislature's own budget advisers warned against doing anything that would reduce revenue in the face of possible cost overruns in education, Medi-Cal and welfare.

Hearst abduction story drags on and on and on

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Eight weeks ago today newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst was dragged, screaming, from her Berkeley apartment.

Since her abduction she has been used as a pawn to generate a $2 million food giveaway, and to focus public attention alledged abuses in California penal institutions.

The revolutionary Symbionese Liberation Army (SLA) claims credit for the kidnaping, and won from Patricia's father, Randolph A. Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner, the promise of $4 million more in food for the needy if his daughter is released unharmed.

But nobody has heard from the SLA for more than three weeks.

Sunday night the coalition named by the SLA to oversee the $2 million giveaway which ended last week appeared on a live broadcast over Berkeley radio station KPFA. The station has been used several times as a link between the SLA and the Hearst family.

Seven members of the groups chosen by the SLA to watch the food giveaway said the program was plagued by a general lack of coordination.

The SLA in its last communication had demanded to hear from the coalition at the conclusion of the food program. The broadcast was their report, said coalition leader Arnold Townsend of the San Francisco Western Addition Project Area Coalition (WAPAC).

"The food was needed and welcomed by the people," he said, "but it is a sad commentary that it takes an event like this to feed and illustrate the problems of the hungry."

The speakers, during the brief broadcast, were unanimous in their criticism of the overall coordination of the food giveaway. For example, Jim Queen, identified as a spokesman for a community group in San Francisco's Potrero Hill district, said on the questions of thefts or "ripoffs":

"The problems of ripoffs were internal with the PIN (People In Need) organization and a combnation of factors including poor warehousing, insufficient security, improper purchasing prartices and poor administration."

However, the coalition members said the quality and amount of food, and general organization, improved as the giveaway progressed.

"The food was accepted by the community," said Esteban Contreras, spokesman for a group known as 'RAP'. According to a nutritionist's report requested by the coalition, the food was wholesome. The quality of food improved with each distribution."

The coalition's report came as Hearst awaited word from the kidnapers in response to a letter from imprisoned SLA associate "Death Row Jeff," who urged them to start negotiations for Patricia's release.

Jeff, who has been in prison for 28 years and whose real name is Clifford Jefferson, is a friend of two other imprisoned SLA members, Russell Little and Joseph Remiro, and others believed to be members of the SLA.

Jefferson's exact relationship with the SLA is not known, although on one occasion he claimed to be its leader.

In his letter, which he gave to Patricia's father during a secret meeting at the state medical prison in Vacaville Saturday, he urged the SLA to start talks to bring the kidnaping to an end.

"I hereby suggest to General Field Marshal Cinque (the selfdescribed leader of the SLA) that it would be for the best interest of the poor and opressed people to start negotiations as soon as possible with Randolph Hearst to release the prisoner of war Patricia Hearst," the letter said.

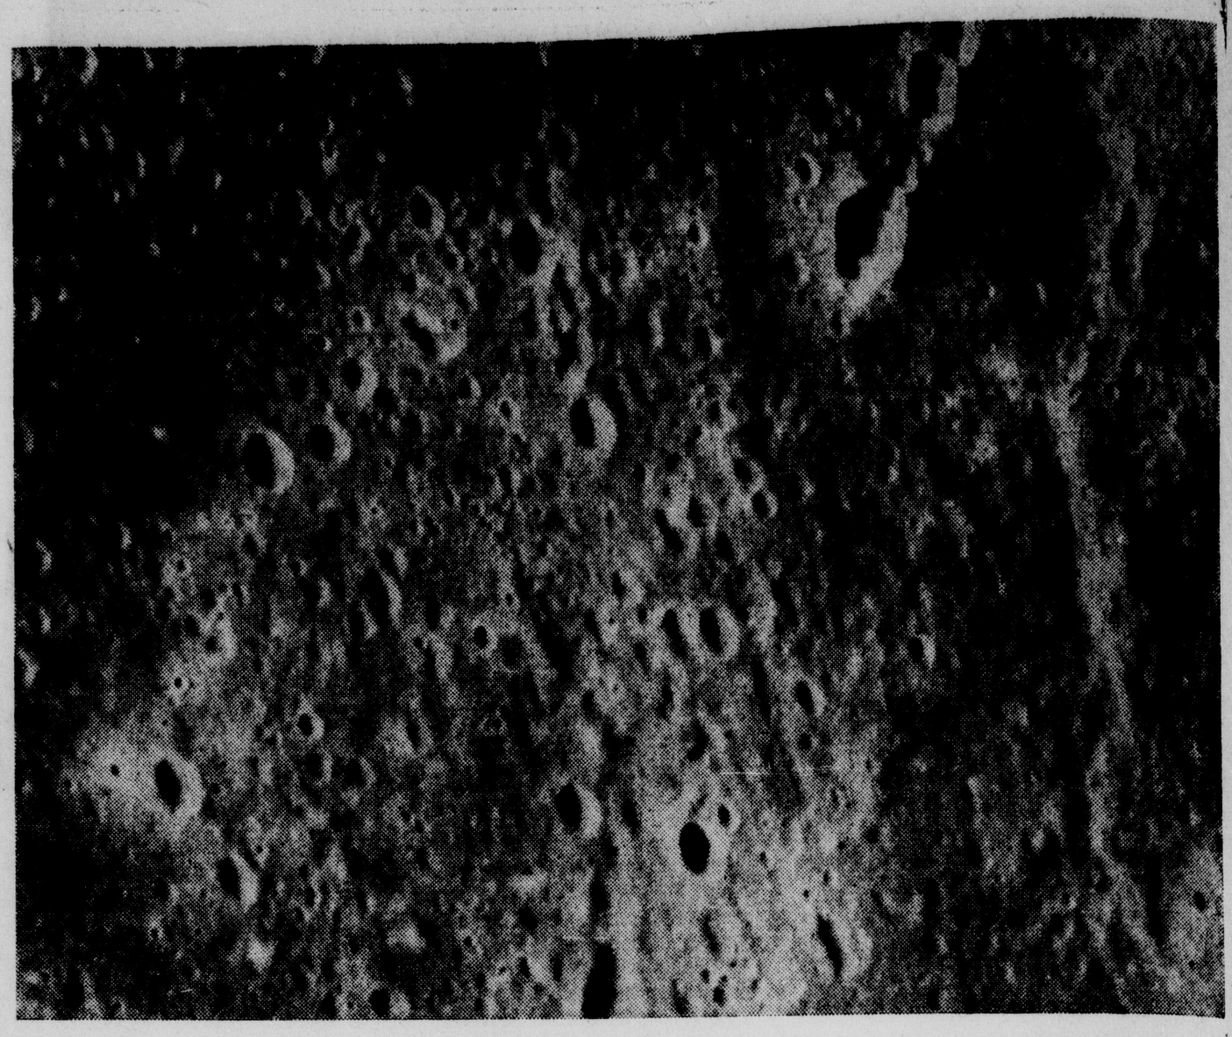

Hearst distributed copies of the letter to newsmen, and said he had met four times with Jefferson at the convict's request.

On his Saturday trip to the prison, Hearst was accompanied—at Jefferson's request— by San Francisco attorney Vincent Hallinan and the Rev. Cecil Williams, who also has been the recipient of SLA communications about the kidnaping.

"I hope to hear from the SLA soon and hope negotiations will begin in the near future," Hearst said.

Mrs. Hearst, who has become discouraged and depressed because it has been so long since she has received word from her daughter, said "I certainly hope the letter helps."

SLA members Remiro and Little, accused of slaying Oakland school superintendent Marcus A. Foster, were held in San Quentin for security reasons. Last week they sent a letter to KPFA urging Patricia's release, and voicing criticism of conditions in the penitentiary.

CLOSEUP OF MERCURY

Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena released this photo taken minutes after Mariner 10 made its closest approach to Mercury on Sunday. This is one of the highest resolution pictures obtained during the mission. Craters as small as 500 feet across can be seen. This picture was taken at a distance of 3,700 miles from the planet. The area included in the picture measures about 31 by 25 miles.

Final arguments due on Agnew disbarment

Annapolis, Md. (UPI) — Final arguments to decide former vice president Spiro T. Agnew's future as a practicing lawyer in Maryland will be heard before a court of appeals Tuesday.

Disbarment was recommended by both a three-judge disciplinary panel and by the state bar association last month.

In a brief filed March 11, the bar asked that Agnew be forbidden to practice again on grounds his no-contest plea to federal income tax evasion was evidence of "moral turpitude." The association's recommendation also noted that Agnew had violated the public trust because "while he was evading the payment of income taxes, he was governor of the state of Maryland, the highest public office the people of that state can bestow."

Agnew's chief attorney, Leon H.A. Pierson, however, said he thought his client should only be suspended, not permanently disbared. He argued he did not think Agnew should be made a special example because of his previous high office.

The court of appeals is the arbiter of disciplinary cases involving members of the state bar. A final disposition of the matter will be made on the basis of testimony heard Tuesday.

Pierson said the former vice president was not expected to appear at this week's hearing, although he did testify at the initial one that disbarment would deprive him of his only means of earning a living.

On Oct. 10, 1973, Agnew pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court in Baltimore to a single count of tax evasion and resigned as vice president. He was given three years unsupervised probation and fined $100,000.

In a 40-page summary of evidence read into federal court records, prosecutors alleged that Agnew took more than $100,000 in kickbacks from contractors while holding county, state and federal office.

Award-winning TV producer found dead

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fred Freed, 53, who won Emmy, Peabody and otherawards as executive producer and author of documentary news programs for the NBC Televison Network, was found dead in his Fifth Avenue apartment Sunday.

Freed's body was found in his bed by a maid who went to clean the apartment. Cause of death was not immediately determined.

Producer of numerous major news documentary programs. Freed had won seven Emmy Awards, two duPont awards, two Peabody awards and was to receive another Peabody for a three-hour program on the energy crisis shown last Sept. 4.

A native of Portland, Ore., and a Princeton graduate who served on Navy destroyers in World War II, Freed had risen through the writing profession to assistant managing editor of Esquire magazine when he entered broadcasting with CBS in 1949. He joined NBC in 1955, went back to CBS but returned to NBC in 1961 to become first producer of the Dave Garroway "Today" show.

Survivors include two daughters, Lisa and Katherine Celia; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Freed of Portland, and two sisters.

Funeral services were scheduled for Wednesday at the Frank E. Campbell Funeral Chapel in Manhattan.

Mariner 10 hunts for mystery Mercury moon

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Mariner 10 hunted through space today for a glimpse of "Charley"—the unknown moon of Mercury whose possible existence surprised astronomers Sunday.

The cameras of the spacecraft, nursing a serious short circuit in its electrical system, swept the area above sun-baked Mercury as it retreated from the planet at 25,000 miles an hour, hoping to confirm the existence of the moonlet.

It would be the 33rd known moon in the solar system.

The possibility of its existence was revealed Sunday by Dr. A. Lyle Broadfoot, of Arizona's Kitt Peak National Observatory, who said Mariner 10's ultraviolet spectrometer had detected "A strong source of radiation, detached from Mercury, in apparent motion relative to the planet."

Initial calculations estimated that the spectrometer had registered the presence of a body about 15.5 miles wide, circling bleak, crater-pocked Mercury, closest planet to the sun.

An associate told newsmen that when Broadfoot revealed his findings, he was asked what he would name it, as the discoverer of a heavenly body is traditionally entitled to do.

He said Broadfoot replied with a grin:

"When I was a boy, I once had a dog named Charley, and I've always wanted to name something after him."

There had been no previous indication that Mercury had a moon but the planet is so difficult to study from Earth— tucked into the blinding glare of the sun and more than 90 million miles away—that the possibility had not been ruled out.

If "Charley's" existence is confirmed, Earth will lose its status as the only planet with only one moon. Jupiter has 12 moons, Saturn 10, Uranus 5, Mars 2, and Neptune 2. So far as is known, Venus has no moon, nor has Pluto, though a satellite of Pluto, the outermost planet of the solar system, could be difficult to detect from Earth.

"Charley's" estimated size is about that of Phobos, one of the moons of Mars.

After Broadfoot's revelation, the spacecraft's cameras television were turned on again, although they had been shut down Saturday night when a short circuit began draining off power and raising temperatures aboard the craft.

Project manager Gene Giberson said the danger in continued use of the cameras is that the overheating could cause a major malfunction that would bring the Spacecraft's useful life to an end, but noted that it has already successfully completed the important part of its mission.

The probe was launched Nov. 3 as history's first two-planet space shot, swept past Venus, and sped on toward Mercury. It made its closest approach Friday afternoon, whipping past only 465 miles above Mercury's surface. It was 2 million miles beyond Mercury today, headed for an orbit of the sun that will bring it back to Mercury next September, at which time it was supposed to photograph the planet's south pole. That mission would have to be abandoned if the short circuit damaged its detection or transmission gear.

'Ethnic weapons' under study? military denies such a probe

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The military may be investigating "ethnic weapons," such as bacteria that harm only orientals, a scientist said Sunday. An Army chemical officer eophatically denied it.

The report was made at a news conference at the opening of the American Chemical Society's national meeting by Dr. Richard Hammerschlag, a neurochemist with the City of Hoe National Medical Center in Duarte, Calif.

He conceded he had no evidence that the Defense Department is working on such weapons, but said he had confirmed the existence of two research projects that could be applied to that end.

"In no way are we even considering anything like this," responded Col. William E. Dinsmore Jr., chief of the Army's chemical and nuclear warfare division, who was attending the meeting. There is "no research that I am aware of" along that line, he said.

The possibility that such weapons could be developed has been discussed in scientific magazines in the past. Military theoreticians, speculators on the future and others have recognized that the physical and genetic differences between the races form a framework on which it would be possible for scientists to devise agents that would be harmful to one race, but not another.

Doctors have long known of diseases that seem to afflict primarily one racial group, as sickle cell anemia does blacks, and recognized that biological researchers could probably "invent" artificial forms of such diseases and breed organism to carry them.

Hammerschlag said he began his investigation last summer when he discovered an article on the subject had been published several years ago in the Military Review, which identifies itself as "the professional journal of the U.S. Army."

The article was written by Carl Larson, head of the department of human genetics at the University of Lund in Sweden, and dealt with the theoretical basis for ethnic weapons.

As an example of such a weapon,Hammerschlag noted that many black and oriental adults lack the enzyme needed to digest lactose, a sugar found in cow's milk, and subsequently become ill from drinking it.

Plain lactose in the water supply of a black nation would thus be an "unsophisticated weapon," that would not affect any whites who drink it, he said.

"There is no single gene that can divide any two populations in an absolute sense," he said. "But there are a number of genetic differences which do exist, say, in 25 to 50 per cent of one (racial) population and zero to five per cent in another."

Agents — chemical, bacterial or viral—designed to harm only persons with such a combination of genetic factors, could "incapacitate 25 to 30 per cent of the enemy population ... and tie up still more people taking care of those you had incapacitated," he said.

He said he searched lists of military research contracts and discovered that the U.S. Army paid for a study of the geographic distribution of human blood types and inherited blood characteristics, and the Defense Department's Advanced Research Project Agency studied blood proteins of Asian peoples. He stressed that he had no evidence or knowledge that these studies were actually aimed at developing ethnic weapons, "but we ought to raise our voices against the possibility of such weapons now."

People in today's news

Snub by Tom Jones

For unexplained reasons, Jones' four bodyguards refused to let an official government welcoming committee get near the singer as he descended from his plane.

The bodyguards also blocked efforts by local newsmen and photographers to approach or photograph the singer.

Jones was rushed to a waiting car and driven to a private cottage at the Tryall Hotel, 15 miles west of Montego Bay, where his wife, Linda, has been staying since Thursday.

Streaking praised

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Dr. Marvin Wachman, new president of Temple University, said at his weekend inaugural that streaking dramatized a new and potentially healthy campus attitude prevalent among college students.

"By reviving a madcap fad (streaking)," said Wachman, "students are telling us they are less alienated than their grim-faced predecessors of three or four years ago. There is much less alienation and frustration on the campus today than there was in the difficult years of the late 60s and 70s."

He said students "seem to have a better perspective about life and about people."

Dual twins year old

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Michelle and Angela Wright, the "twins" born here from completely independent and separate uteri in one of the rarest births in history, received a lot of presents on their first birthday Sunday, but the "best gift is their health," said their mother.

Lisa Wright remembered how the girls were born prematurely and lost one pound after birth. Michelle weighed 4 pounds, 13 ½ ounces at birth but now weighs 19 pounds, and Angela weighed 4 pounds, 3 ounces at birth and now weighs 17 pounds.

The man who made the deliveries a year ago at Bethesda Hospital, Dr. Stephen Horstein, said he could find records of only one similar dual birth. The children were lucky they had not had any serious health problems, said Horstein, because of their initial respiration difficulties and weight.

Kennedy boy treated

BOSTON (UPI) — Teddy Kennedy, 12, son of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, checked out of Childrens Hospital Sunday after the fourth in a series of bone cancer treatments, then joined his father in watching the Boston Bruins defeat Detroit in hockey.

Doctors said young Kennedy spent three days in the hospital, and that treatment of his amputated right leg continues satisfactorily.

Famed Ranger retires

WACO, Tex. (UPI) — Clint Peoples, senior captain in the famed Tebas Rangers who kept peace in the old West, retired Sunday.

Peoples joined the Rangers, organized a century and a half ago, in 1946. He had been a sheriff's deputy in Conroe, Tex., and a highway patrolman before that.

Peoples was one of the band of 82 remaining members who last July celebrated the anniversary of the founding of the Rangers.

The actual anniversary was Aug. 5, 150 years from the date Stephen F. Austin hired 10 frontiersmen at $15 a month each, from his own pocket, to "range" Texas and to protect settlers from outlaws and Indians.

The Texas Rangers say they are the oldest state law enforcement agency in North America.

Wounded Knee trial recessed

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — A hearing on whether charges should be dismissed against two leaders of the occupation of Wounded Knee was recessed for a week Friday to allow prosecutors to study secret FBI documents.

Government attorneys R. D. Hurd, William Clayton, Earl Kaplan and David Gienapp will be the only ones to have original access to the files of informants during the 71-day occupation on the Pine Ridge Reservation in South Dakota last year.

Law suits based on defective products costly to U.S. firms

CHICAGO (UPI) — Personal injury and property damage suits resulting from defective products cost American companies $100 billion a year through legal verdicts and out-of-court settlements, a gathering of industrial engineers and planners was told today.

Dr. S. W. Herwald, vice president for engineering and development of the Westinghouse Electric Corp., Pittsburgh, said there was a growing concern in the United States about the integrity of products.

Coupled with this is the need for planners to find ways to utilize what now are regarded as waste materials, he said.

"We have the dubious distinction of being a 'convenience,' 'worksaver, 'throwaway,' society. This has reached such an extent that it is helping destroy the very quality of life it is seeking to preserve," Herwald said.

"The poor esthetics of mountains of waste is bad enough," Herald said in a speech at the Design Engineering show and conference here. "But with the need to conserve energy and scarce materials we can no longer afford to consign most of these to trash heaps."

Designers, he said, face a challenge to "minimize the initial investment of scarce materials and energy in what we produce," and another from foreign competition, where he warned that in most product lines "other countries are catching up."

150 bodies found

FLORIANOPOLIS, Brazil (UPI) — Rescue workers searched the devastated port city of Tubarao today for more victims of Brazil's worst floods on record.

Despondent man fatally shoots self

ONTARIO — A despondent 22-year-old Ontario man shot himself to death with a small-caliber handgun just as police officers arrived to investigate a family fight at 930 N. Orange Ave. Sunday morning, police reported.

Lonnie Lamar Poole of 1449 E. D St. died at San Antonio Community Hospital of a single gunshot wound of the chest shortly after the shooting incident occurred at 4:52 a.m.

Police Officer Bill Haigh said he responded to the Orange Avenue address and heard several people arguing in loud voices inside the home and a moment later heard a popping noise. Haigh entered the home and found Poole lying beside a sofa in the living room. Poole was still breathing when Haigh entered the house and an ambulance was called.

Police said that earlier in the evening an officer had gone to the home on a report that Poole was trying to gain entrance to the home of his mother, Mrs. Bertha Fort. Police said that Poole was outside the home threatening its occupants with a knife. Police said that Poole had been trying to see his wife who was staying at the home.

The second time Poole arrived at the home he was again denied entrance by his mother and he allegedly kicked the door down. Inside the home he apparently argued with his mother and sister. The mother and sister said that Poole took a .25-caliber revolver, hidden in the sofa, and as police arrived, shot himself once in the chest. Police said that Poole and his wife had been separated for about two weeeks prior to the incident and he was despondent.

Educator maps parents' talk

WEST COVINA — Dr. Ilah Wilstach, coordinator of the community liaison division of special education for the county, will speak at a meeting of the parent group for the San Gabriel Valley Regional Center on April 18.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. at Sunset Elementary School. The public is invited.

Dr. Wilstach's subject will be "The Master Plan on Special Education" as outlined by the state Board of Education.

House fire loss is $5,000

WALNUT — Four units from the county fire department put out a fire that swept through the attic and roof of the residence of E.W. Hunt, 1435 Cranmer Drive, late Sunday, causing $5,000 damage.

Firemen said the fire apparently started in the garage of the structure when the vent pipe on the hot water heater dropped and leaned against the wall of the building.

The vent pipe had apparently been leaning against the wall for several days before it ignited, firemen said.

Due at traffic trial today

Suspect believed suicide

POMONA — A former state correctional officer, who was to appear for trial here today on charges resulting from a traffic crash last September, was found shot to death early this morning.

The victim, Fred Ellis Brawley, 57, was found lying in the bathtub of his home at 2453 Wilkie Drive shortly after 4 a.m. by his wife, Ellene, 54. Brawley had a bullet wound through his head and held a .32-caliber automatic pistol in his right hand, police reported. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Brawley was scheduled to appear for trial this morning in Pomona Superior Court. He was charged with felonious hit-run and drunken driving and assault with a deadly weapon. Police quoted Mrs. Brawley as saying that her husband was upset about the prospect of the trial but was "rational."

At about 1:30 a.m., she told officers, her husband got up from bed, told her he couldn't sleep and left the bedroom. She said she heard nothing further and found the victim in the bathroom just after 4 a.m.

Police said the case appeared to be one of a self-inflicted gunshot wound, but further investigation was planned. The final determination will be made by the Coroner's office.

Brawley faced trial as the result of a crash at 12:30 a.m. Sept. 28, when his car slammed into the rear of a motorcycle, injuring the rider, Richard L. Strandberg, 22, of 1303 Electra St., Rowland Heights. Strandberg sustained a broken collarbone and jaw and a compound break of his lower left leg.

A witness told police that the motorist and motorcyclist appeared to be "playing games" as they drove north on Towne Avenue. Another said the driver hit the motorcycle from behind, knocking it into a traffic island near McKinley Avenue.

The witness said the driver didn't stop but drove on and another said that when he attempted to stop the man, the driver sped away. A few moments later, police said, Officer Larry Kidney spotted the suspect car and attempted to stop it, but Brawley didn't stop. Kidney followed him into the driveway of the Brawley home and placed him under arrest.

Officers this morning reported finding no notes at the scene. The body was taken to Blackman Mortuary.

Supervisor may set up public hearings

Hospital's emergency care probed

LA PUENTE — Supervisor Peter Schabarum today may set public hearings to add to investigation of charges that Doctor's Hospital of San Gabriel Valley provided inadequate emergency care treatment to three accident victims.

An investigation over the weekend by a four-man county medical team has brought about the suspension of the physician who was on duty until the matter has been cleared up.

The charges are that the physician, Dr. Lynn Hilbe Jr., a resident at Loma Linda University who was working at the La Puente Hospital, released the three accident victims two weeks ago after treatment of cuts and bruises and minor injuries. The victims' injuries were found to be more serious when they were taken to other hospitals.

A sheriff's report of the incident said four persons were taken to the hospital when their van struck a wall and utility pole.

They are identified as John Craig Nelson, 20, the driver; Cynthia Trotter, 17; Roseanne O'Conner, 17, and Barbara Kolsey, 18, all of Hacienda Heights.

The report said Nelson, a paraplegic, was treated for a bloody nose and Miss Trotter for a leg sprain and abrasions.

Nelson was later admitted to County-USC Medical Center and treated for two broken legs. He is in fair condition today at the hospital.

Miss Trotter was taken to Kaiser Hospital in Bellflower a few hours after the accident, according to her attorney, Andrew Patterson.

He said she suffered two fractures of her right leg. Miss O'Conner was treated at Doctors Hospital for a cut. She later was admitted to San Dimas Community Hospital for treatment of an infection. The fourth victim was unhurt.

Bill Gilson, public information aide for Schabarum, said the matter was brought to Schabarum's attention about a week ago and he started a quiet investigation of the situation including the investigation by team from the county Committee on Emergency Medical Care.

Because of the team's preliminary investigations of the situation over the weekend, the hospital suspended the doctor on duty with the physician's voluntary consent.

Dean Garrison, hospital administrator, was unavailable for comment this morning.

The county investigating team is expected to meet again today at the Hall of Administration. At stake will be the hospital's contract with the county to provide emergency care treatment.

The hospital has had the contract with the county for the past two years without incident, Gilson said.

In addition to the setting of public hearings, Gilson said the county counsel's office may be called on today for legal guidelines in to the situation.

State solons can be taxing

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

April Fool's Day seems peculiarly appropriate for talking about our politicians.

Two recent headlines in this newspaper caught my eye — like a squirt of grapefruit juice. One read "Nation's economy going from bad to worse," and the other "Bill hikes pay of governor, other top state officials."

The "economy" news item was one of your standard gloomy prognostications of confusion, chaos and catastrophe. It predicted cost of living increases, tax boosts, inflation, energy crunches and so on. One of those articles the government issues from time to time to keep the shuddering taxpayer on his toes.

"Rampant inflation," grumbled the piece, "and sluggish economic growth at the end of the 1973, just revealed in a new government report, sound bad enough, but things have gotten worse since then." Head for the hills!

The other news item read, "A bill raising the governor's salary to $60,000 a year and providing similar 20 per cent pay boosts for the state's six other constitutional officers has been introduced in the Senate." The juxtaposition of the two articles must have made angels weep.

The reason (if that's what it is) for the proposed pay hikes, according to Sen. Dennis E. Carpenter, R-Newport Beach, father of SB1745, is that 50 appointed state bureaucrats now make more money than the top seven elected officials in California. "It simply does not make sense," he said, "for an employe to make more money than the person who appoints him." (What has "sense" got to do with politics?)

Carpenter's rationale escapes me, particularly in view of the other news item. It apparently never occurred to him that he could bring "sense" back to the state pay structure and at the same time save taxpayers money by cutting back the pay of those 50 overpaid bureaucrats.

The proposed raises for the California Seven are about 20 per cent, but "they equal only 5 per cent a year since the last increase," Carpenter said soothingly — but not soothingly enough. A 20 per cent pay hike in the highest flush of prosperity is an eye-opener, but at a time when taxes are already threatening to submerge most of the populace and when the average family can no longer afford ground round, the increase seems ill-advised, to put it as delicately as possible. It's poor timing ,if nothing else.

Gov. Reagan, who has been scraping along on $49,100 a year, would find his pay envelope fattened to $60,000. Carpenter's excuse for this is that the governor of New York gets $85,000. Beautiful. We'll soon be paying Ron baby what he used to earn in the movies — and he doesn't even have to put on greasepaint.

Well I, for one, am perfectly happy to have government appointees earn more than the appointers—doesn't bother me a bit. And I can swallow my pride and let the governor of New York earn more than Reagan. I'm not paying Rockefeller's salary.

One thing is for sure — California has the best politicians money can buy.

Freeway crashes in D.B. hurt 3

DIAMOND BAR — A Chino man and two women were injured in separate freeway accidents here Sunday morning.

Ricky Dale Holden, 20, of 4108 Descanso Drive, Chino, was westbound on the Pomona Freeway near Grand Avenue at 7 a.m. Sunday when his car swerved into the freeway's divider.

The car tore down about 140 feet of fence before coming to a stop in the fast lane. Holden suffered injuries to his head, and multiple lacerations. He was treated and released at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

In an earlier accident on the Orange Freeway near Brea Canyon Road, Linda Jo Shackelton, 21, of West Covina, and Michelle March, 20, of Monterey Park, were injured when their car hit the freeway's center divider and rolled over on the freeway.

According to highway patrol officers, the driver of the car, Miss Shackelto, apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

Both of the women were taken to Pomona Valley Community hospital with multiple injuries. Miss March was listed in good condition today at the hospital. Miss Shackelton was transferred to Queen of the Valley Hospital ijn West Covinaswhere she is in fair condition.

Man shot by police faces auto theft count

MONTCLAIR — Montclair police will seek a complaint charging grand theft, auto, against an 18-year-old Pomona man shot by a police officer investigating an unrelated armed robbery early Saturday morning.

A Montclair police spokesman said this morning the complaint will be sought against Myron Coleman of Pomona and Arthur Hunter, 19, of Los Angeles charging grand theft auto. Police Officer Sam Riley shot Coleman early Saturday morning while he was investigating an armed robbery at a Ramona Avenue market.

Later police discovered that Coleman and Hunter did not match the descriptions of the robbery suspects, but the car they were driving was reported stolen from the Pomona area earlier.

Bicyclists stopped from crossing private property

MARINA DEL REY—Sheriff's deputies halted a pack of about 175 bicyclists led by Los Angeles City Councilman Marvin Braude Sunday, preventing them from wheeling across private property.

Braude said he would try to get the city to take legal action to open the private roadways of an apartment project to bicycle traffic, in order to link the northern and southern portions of the beach bikeway.

The bikeway runs from Santa Monica to Manhattan Beach, except for a stretch about three quarters of a mile long, blocked by the Villa Venetia apartment project.

Braude said cyclists traditionally rode through the apartment project. "I've been using it for 10 years," he said.

The management of the project complained that the recent boom in bicycling has meant "a thousand riders a day through here on weekends," and fenced off the entrance, posting a guard. There was once an alternate route through the holes in the fence surrounding neighboring land owned by Howard Hughes' Summa Corp., "but unfortunately they patched the fence," Braude said.

Residents of the apartment project complained that the bicycle riders are rude, block the road by riding five abreast and are a safety hazard, because an apartment resident might hit one with a car.

A city police escort accompanied Braude's group Sunday, but in Marina del Rey, county territory, the group ran up against sheriff's deputies requested by the apartment manager to block the way. Jack Howard, the apartment project's owner, said he had warned Braude the cyclists would not be allowed to pass.

Prisoners who fled San Quentin still free

SAN QUENTIN—Two brothers who escaped from the minimum security visiting area at San Quentin have eluded police despite an all-point-bulletin to authorities throughout northern California.

Leaving their visiting parents a note saying "we have considered all the alternatives and this is the best way," they apparently walked away from the prisoner-visitor quarters sometime after 11 p.m. Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stiner of Los Angeles, found the note Sunday morning and gave it to the officer in charge.

The Stiner brothers were serving life sentences for conspiracy in connection with the death of two Black Panthers at the University of California, Los Angeles.

Don Milligan, a spokesman for the prison, said no leads have turned up as to their whereabouts. He said the bulletin issued to police stated the Stiners should be considered dangerous.

Officials said both are members of the black nationalist group known as United Slaves. They were convicted of conspiracy to commit murder and two counts of second degree murder Sept. 15, 1969 in the deaths of John Higgins and Apprentice Carter, Black panther leaders at UCLA.

The note asked their parents to "Please understand and have faith in us. The prison system is going through a strong repressive stage and we know for certain we will do another five years if not more."

Consumer bills on mobilehome abuses predicted

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti says consumer protection legislation will be introduced soon to correct alleged widespread abuses in the multi-billion dollar mobilehome industry.

Moretti made public during the weekend a 74-page report to the legislature by the Assembly Office of Research which has been investigating consumer complaints for more than a year.

Among other things, the study recommends the state Department of Housing and Community Development get into the business of licensing mobilehome manufacturers, dealers, salesmen, transporters, installers and repairmen.

The study noted that mobilehomes have become an "essential alternative" form of housing, especially for elderly and retired people. More than one million Californians live in them.

The report said mobilehomes account for one-third of the new single-family housing market and sales have soared from $50 million in 1955 to $1.5 billion in 1972.

Among other things, the 74-page report recommended:

—Establishment of a delivery deadline for a mobilehome after which a purchaser can refuse delivery without losing his deposit.

—The posting of a one-year warranty notice by a dealer and have a sample available when the sale occurs. Builders and dealers also should maintain "adequate warranty and service facilities."

—Establishment by dealers of impound accounts to hold deposits, taxes and fees paid by buyers. The cash couldn't be distributed until after the buyer signed a document indicating he is satisfied with the mobilehome.

—The revision of the tax structure so the mobilehome depreciation schedule would be based on current market values instead of the statutory table now used. The 2 per cent in lieu tax should be retained but its distribution should be spread across taxing agencies in the same manner of the property tax.

—Mobilehome park tenants should be entitled to a written lease if requested and the park management should be entitled to a "reasonable" security deposit.

—Creation of standards for roof support. Unless the industry can accomplish this goal in another way, roof beams and sheathing must support 20 pounds per square foot and a concentrated load of 200 pounds.

Moretti noted that the mobile home industry had become important to the California economy in the past few years, trailing 800 manufacturers and 1,600 dealers.

"The legislature must provide a healthy climate for this important part of our economy while protecting the interests of mobilehome dwellers at the same time," he said.

Moretti said a series of bills will be introduced shortly to carry out the recommendations of the study.

SOME TRICK — A neat April Fool Day's trick is performed by model Shari Sorensen at a San Francisco department store. The store designed this egg chandelier for their upcoming 28th annual Easter Flower Show, and when hung in place it will contain some 4,000 "eggs." There would have been 4,001, but one got broken. How did that happen?

Paper will go morning route

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Washington Star-News has announced its Saturday papers will become morning editions, instead of going out in the afternoons.

Star-News President John H. Kauffmann explained more and more people were engaging in weekend activities that keep them busy Saturday afternoons. As a result he said beginning May 18 the paper would be delivered to homes and newsstands at 7:30 a.m.

The move does not affect other Star-News editions published in the afternoon Monday through Friday and on Sunday morning.

Paper fights pollution of S. F. Bay

OAKLAND (UPI) — Claiming the state is allowing farms, industries and public agencies to dump pollution into San Francisco Bay, the publisher of the Oakland Tribune Sunday ordered the newspaper's legal staff to file suit compelling enforcement of anti-pollution laws.

Joseph Knowland criticised state agencies for inadequate action to prevent pollution in the bay. He said reports prepared by the Tribune staff show "that chemicals and other pollutants are being dumped into the Bay by farms, industries and public agencies."

"Moreover, raw sewage is being flushed into San Francisco Bay by the city of the same name—San Francisco," he said.

"There are laws which prohibit this pollution, yet these laws are not being enforced by the boards appointed to do so."

Ethiopian guerrillas offer to release five Americans

ADDIS ABABA (UPI) — Guerrillas have offered to release five captured North Americans provided the Ethiopian government does not retaliate, negotiator Ed P. Burtchaell said today, adding that the government is ready to cooperate.

The five employes of the American-owned Tenneco Oil Company —three Americans and two Canadians —were captured by guerrillas last week when their helicopter was forced down in a storm near the Red Sea port of Massawa.

Tenneco President Burtchaell said the guerrillas contacted him late Sunday night. They sent a note written in English to a police station and the note was then telephoned to him in the northern city of Asmara where he has been waiting.

"It was very encouraging," he said in a telephone interview. "There were no conditions except that there should be no retaliation. The government is quite prepared to go along with this."

Burtchaell said there were indications the five, reported to be in good health, had been constantly moved about during their captivity, perhaps walking 10 to 15 miles a day.

He said he knew their approximate whereabouts, which was a "long way away" from where the helicopter came down and was destroyed on the ground by the guerrillas. He would give no further details. Once the men are released, he said, they will be taken to a nearby American military base and spend at least a day in hospital there. There are about 600 Americans manning a satellite tracking station in Asmara.

Burtchaell said he was hopeful the release might take place as early as Tuesday. He said the men probably will be dropped off at some remote spot and walk into the nearest police station.

Republicans seek to convince voters Watergate not GOP fault

CHICAGO (UPI) — Four Republican presidential prospects seem to agree that the GOP must convince the people that Watergate was not the party's fault, or risk disaster in the 1974 and 1976 elections.

They differ widely, however, on how that end can best be accomplished.

Vice President Gerald Ford, U.S. Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois, California Gov. Ronald Reagan and former New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller spoke this weekend to some 1,000 Republicans attending The Midwest Leadership Conference.

On their general approach to Watergate, the four spoke almost with one voice.

Percy: "We must make it unmistakably clear that Watergate does not represent the traditional values and belief of the Republican party."

Rockefeller: "Corruption, where it exists, is the corruption of individuals."

No approval

Reagan: "I know of no Republicans who approve of such campaign excesses, nor have they in the past been Republican practices."

Ford: "The party organization won't make the kind of mistakes that obviously were made two years ago by the CREEP ((Committee to Re-Elect the President))."

The four also agreed that Democrats, too, have been caught in compromising circumstances.

Percy said the Illinois "Democratic machine is wallowing in a Watergate all its own." Reagan said GOP candidates "have all too often been the victims of big-city political machines, voting commissions, warehouses and empty lots against us."

"Dishonesty is a tragedy anywhere you find it," Rockefeller said. Ford said he was "shocked" to learn of recent charges that milk producers contributed illegally to Democrats.

The differences in the four men's approach to the question, however, were striking.

Ford, in his strongest comment on the subject, laid the blame for Watergate solely at the door of those in charge of CREEP. At a news conference after his speech, he repeatedly said President Nixon should not be held personally to blame.

The vice president's suggestion for handling the question was that each potential presidential candidate "sign in advance on the dotted line" a pledge not to set up organizations such as CREEP for the 1976 election.

Recruit candidates

Percy suggested the GOP should "recruit candidates whose appeal cuts across party lines ... as a matter of survival and growth."

He said that approach could end Republicans' traditional standing as a minority party—a problem which he said is "no less disturbing" than Watergate.

Reagan said the Watergate affair should be laid before the courts for resolution while Republicans attack the Democratic-controlled Congress.

"Our mission, if we accept it, must be to run against an incumbent Democratic Congress and its entrenched bureaucracy. If we fail in that mission, we may very well self-destruct in five seconds," Reagan said."

Rockefeller delivered the strongest defense of Nixon, drawing one of his two standing ovations with the call to solve Watergate "through the constitutional process. Everybody's entitled to a fair trial, even the President of the United States."

Percy has formed a committee to publicly explore his 1976 presidential chances. None of the others claims to be a candidate for the White House but none would firmly shut the door on such a possibility. The four are regarded among the party's top possibilities for the nomination.

Exercising with wheel keeps Reagan in shape

SACRAMENTO (UPI — Gov. Ronald Reagan, who at 63 betrays only a few gray hairs and no midriff paunch, says he keeps in shape by exercising every day for two minutes with a small wheel.

The governor, who likes to keep his weight at about 180 pounds, described his exercise device in an interview with the Sacramento Union as a small wheel with an axle through it.

"You kneel down on the floor holding this axle, you roll out, extend your body all the way, then roll back," he said. "And the only thing that will roll you back is your muscles. I do 40 of these every day and it takes less than two minutes."

For years, Reagan has told skeptics he doesn't dye his hair and his barber agrees.

Side Glances

"We can rule out bubonic plague. She had that last year on 'Joy of Love'!"

The name is the game in politics in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — In Ohio, politics is the name of the game.

And the best players are the Browns, Tafts, O'Neills, Celebrezzes and Fergusons.

Give any candidate one of those names and he'd figure to be an odds-on favorite to win a statewide election.

The "Brown" syndrome probably started with the late U.S. Rep.Clarence J. Brown and was carried along by Ted W. Brown, secretary of state for 23 years, and John W. Brown, lieutenant governor for 15 years.

C. William O'Neill, former governor and now chief justice of the Ohio Supreme Court, is the only person ever to head all three branches of the state government, and everybody else named O'Neill is trying to follow him.

Taft Dynasty

The "Taft" dynasty began with Sen. Robert A. Taft, R-Ohio. And Joseph T. Ferguson, the 82-year old Democratic state auditor, has run for statewide office in every decade since the 1920s.

Paul W. Brown, a Republican justice of the Supreme Court and former attorney general, probably used his name to greatest advantage. When campaigning, he superimposed his name on an orange and brown football-shaped sticker. And although he was not Paul Brown, popular coach of the Cleveland Browns, this Brown won election to the Supreme Court three times by about one million votes.

Soon, others tried to horn in on the name. In 1972, Paul Brown had to beat a Democrat named Lloyd Brown, who was black. But the Democrats got a Brown on the Supreme Court anyway. William Brown.

The name Brown became so popular that in 1970, an unknown 29-year-old lawyer from Lisbon, O., named William J.Brown had the audacity to take on the Democratic floor leader of the Ohio House who had been especially groomed for state attorney general.

The result? Brown thumped John C. McDosald by almost 100,000 votes in the primary and went on to become one of the youngest attorneys general in the country.

Brown, Brown, Brown

He's up for re-election this year—in a crowd of Browns. John W. Brown is running for lieutenant governor. One of the Democrats seeking the lieutenant governor's job is a J.W. Brown from Columbus. Republican Ted Brown is seeking re-election as secretary of state. William Bill Brown is running as a Democrat.

The Democrats have fielded a Clifford F. Brown to run for the Supreme Court. And even the Socialist Workers party is getting into the act. Nancy B. Lazar is a candidate for governor, but her campaign literature uses her middle name —Brown.

C. William O'Neill, 25-year old son of the chief justice of the same name, was elected a state representative in 1972 while overseas in the service. This year, he decided he wanted to run for attorney general. His father promptly announced he wouldn't seek reelection to avoid a conflict of interest should the son win and have to practice before the high court.

Two months later, young C. William O'Neill decided it might be too tough to beat a Brown, so he dropped out. Within hours, his father was a candidate for chief justice again.

And O'Neills

This disappointed Justice Paul Brown, who had to back out of the race for chief justice. Meanwhile, Democrats had selected their candidate for chief justice assuming Brown would be the Republican nominee. His name? Joseph E. O'Neill.

William M. O'Neill is still another Democratic candidate, running for lieutenant governor.

One of the frontrunners in that race is Senate Minority Leader Anthony O. Calabrese, who was once known as A. Orlando Calabrese until Anthony J. Celebrezze became a celebrated name in Cleveland politics and went on to become U.S. Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

Anthony J. Celebrezze Jr., is a candidate for the state Senate. James P. Celebrezze is a candidate for Congress. And Supreme Court Justice Frank D. Celebrezze is running for reelection — against Republican Sheldon A. Taft, a Columbus attorney.

Champ Ferguson

Perhaps the champ of the Ohio name game is Auditor Joseph Feguson, who has held the position for 15 years and state treasurer for four years. He has defeated three generations of a Republican family named Tracy.

Now, it's time for Joe to retire. The Democratic candidate this year? His son, Thomas E. Ferguson. And his probable opponent? Roger W. Tracy Jr.

When Joseph Ferguson was elected auditor for the fourth time in 1970, a woman rushed up to him election night and said, "Ot, Mr. Ferguson, I'm so pleased to meet you. I voted for your father."

To which Ferguson replied: "That wasn't my father. That was me."

Farming: still tough row to hoe

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The dream of many a city dweller of leaving the urban "rat race" for "the good life" on a small California farm has little chance of coming true.

This is the conclusion of Edward A. Yeary of Parlier, a farm management specialist with the University of California's Agricultural Extension Service, who has studied the hazards likely to confront the city resident starting a small commercial farm.

He said the consensus of farm people he consulted throughout the state was "the chances of fulfilling that dream in California range from impossible to very difficult."

Yeary said such a move by a person with no "practical farming experience" will probably end up a "costly mistake."

He said "a substantial number" of city dwellers seem to feel that buying a small farm is the answer to their current problems such as high food costs, urban congestions, smog and dull jobs.

They felt, he said, "they would get away from the city's rat race, be their own boss and when they want a tomato for a salad, they could pick it from their own vine."

But the farm specialist advises that making this dream come true will likely take more money, hard work and luck than they realize.

Yeary said the only way such a city dweller would have a good chance of becoming a successful farmer is if he first acquired "bonafide practical farming experience" and had plenty of money.

He said a novice farmer could get the needed experience by taking a job at a farm or enrolling in farm courses at colleges. He said such a person also would need enough money to keep up farm mortgage payments and pay off other debts during the time it takes to make his farming operation profitable.

But he quickly cautions the prospective farmer:

"You may find that you traded an urban rat race for a rural treadmill that leaves scant time for anything but hard work. You may find that instead of owning a farm, the farm owns you."

Yeary said a person contemplating a permanent move to a farm should give himself "honest answers" to these questions:

—"How much do you really know about farming?"

Unless the person possesses practical farming experience or studied extensively in an agricultural school, Yeary said, "the answer will range from zero to very little." He said farming isn't a job a farm owner can learn while doing because he must turn a profit to keep the farm going.

—"How much money will it take to get a farm?"

At today's prices for California farmland, in 20 to 30-acre parcels, Yeary said, "You are probably talking about an average of $1,200 an acre — with no house on it." He said zoning laws in most areas of the state make it difficult to buy agriculturally zoned parcels of less than 30 acres.

—"What arrangements can you make to sell your crop?"

Yeary said the farmer must be able to sell his crop at a price that will support him and his family "at anything above the subsistence level." He said the small farmer will have to compete on prices with the large farms.

The new farmer, he said, also will need a certain amount of luck to make a success of his operation, including good weather and bugs staying away from his crops. He pointed out the fuel shortage also is making it tougher to farm.

Yeary discusses these and other factors in starting a small farm in two extension service booklets entitled "Is a Family Farm the Answer?"

The doctor comments

Unexplained faints deserve examination

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I would like to know what "vaso-vagal reflex" means. A couple of weeks ago, after eating dinner, I started to get up from the table, and I passed out. I was out 15 to 20 minutes. My blood pressure at that time was 112-60.

I am 72 and have very good health and have never fainted before. After I came out of this fainting spell I felt as good as I ever have.

Next day I went to my doctor and he gave me a checkup and said everything was fine. My blood pressure then was 148-88, and that's what it usually is.

He said I had overeaten, but I'm not a big eater. He explained this to me, but I didn't understand all of it. He said it probably wouldn't happen again, as it doesn't happen very often. Would like to know what you think.

DEAR READER — Many people faint without it having any significance. This is particularly true in young people.

A common cause of fainting is the "vaso-vagal reflex." Through reflex mechanisms involving the vagus nerve, the blood tends to accumulate in the lower part of the body. The arteries over-dilate, and the veins fill with too much blood. When this happens there simply isn't enough blood to flow uphill to the brain. When you lie down the blood flows normally to the brain, and you recover.

The catch is what causes the reflex. In young people standing, as in parade formation, it is usually not medically important. You may remember a few years back pictures of the Air Force Academy cadets flaked out on the ground after fainting while in formation. People can have this reflex triggered from the sight of blood, a shot, or a variety of emotional stimuli.

Every unexplained faint does deserve a careful examination. In people over 50 it is more often an indication of some medical problem. Its exact nature may not be apparent at first. It can be caused by changes in the arteries in the neck or even in the brain. In rare cases it is a sign of a heart attack. About the only thing the doctor can do if the medical examination is normal is to wait and see if anything else shows up later.

I'm doubtful that your fait was simply nothing. I have made a special study of fainting problems. When I used to see the Air Force pilots and the astronauts, fainting was a big problem because it isn't a good idea to have a pilot fainting while flying jet aircraft. After seeing several hundred cases, I was impressed that fainting in the older person was not often just nothing, and, quite significantly, fainting seldom occurred in a person who was seated. The only major exceptions were those young men seeing a particularly gory movie on aircraft accidents—a film that induced a high faint rate.

I think you should go back to your doctor soon for a follow-up examination. It could be that you had gotten up too soon and were standing longer than you thought. In any case, it won't hurt to have a follow-up for a while to be sure that nothing else develops.

Send you questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of the Progress-Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on ulcers, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for "Ulcers" booklet.

Oswald: "That's a tough question. Everything good and bad has happened to me during my 65 years of card play. I guess the most remarkable one occurred this same day 41 years ago. I was playing with your mother and opened the South hand with a Blackwood four notrump. She showed me one ace and I bid seven notrump."

Jim: "Since I was born three days later, I was pactically in the game. You made the grand slam didn't you?"

Oswald: "Of course, I woudln't be talking about it if I hadn't. However, dummy took all 13 tricks. If I had tried to take a trick in my hand, I would have been set."

Jim: "Let's see. You won the first trick with dummy's ace of spades. Then you discarded your ace of hearts on the queen of spades. This gave you a chance to throw your three top clubs on the king-queen-jack of hearts and make the last eight tricks with dummy's clubs. Quite a hand, even for April first."

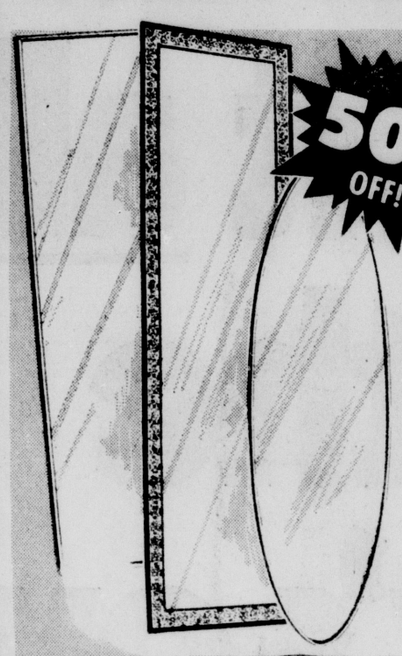

Oswald: "Yes, it was and since all five missing diamonds were in one hand I could not have made the slam any other way."

Strauss sees impeachment trial by December

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic National Chairman Robert S. Strauss believes a Senate impeachment trial for President Nixon will be under way or scheduled by early December and Democrats may have to decide then whether to take a party stand on the question.

"That's my morning line, he said. "That's how I see the odds now.

Strauss made the forecast in briefing reporters on preparations for the Party s Kansas City ''miniconvention' Dec. 6-8 to approve a permanent charter fixing national Democratic ground rules. It will define who is and who is not a Democrat but leave most of the political power at the state level.

The chairman said the party also must have some answers about impeachment for Democratic office seekers in November. The national committee already is getting some inquiries, he said, and probably will "argue, debate and do s o m e polling" in an effort to come up with something.

"What answer do you give t o the (Democratic) guy who's running for Congress in the Midwest against a Republican who's been solidly behind the President?" he asked. "How do we treat the issue if an impeachment trial is going forward?"

Strauss also said Democratic candidates in different parts of the country may want to take a different approach to impeachment because the political climate varies from region to region. He added:

"It may be different in the South than it is in the North. It's not going to be the same in all parts of the country."

Some of Nixon's strongest support is in the South and t h e P r e s i d e n t has concentrated on that area in recent efforts to drum up public s u p p o r t for his position through a series of speeches and other public appearances.

Strauss said the Democratic position on impeachment—if it finally adopts one—must be based on what "is good or bad for the Democrats, good or bad for the country" and whether it will detract from any actual impeachment proceedings.

He said he had refused to take a position on the issue because he thought "it would put a partisan cloud on the matter." He said he also had told producers of a Democratic fund-raising telethon, tentatively set for late June, that "there can't be any mention" of impeachment.

"That would be bum politics... and not very good fund raising," he said.

Discussing t h e December convention, Strauss said he had passed word that "it would not be very constructive" for potential 1976 Democratic presidential contenders "to use it as a trial run" and he was confident they would act accordingly.

He also said he thought "90 per cent of the sticky issues will be out of the way" by the time the convention takes up the party charter.

"I hope it will be fun," he said. "Democrats haven't had a cordial meeting for a long time."

High rate of starvation?

Surgeon scores hospital diets

HOUSTON (UPI) — A Harvard Medical School surgeon says the highest rate od starvation in the United States occurs in hospitals.

Dr. G.L. Blackburn told the final spring meeting of the American College of Surgeons recently that the starvation occurs because post-surgical diets lack body-building proteins.

He said protein calorie malnutrition occurs because standard diets of surgery patients or those who are critically ill is sugar and water.

"When they can eat again, they get gelatin and fruit juice," he said. "As a matter of fact, if we looked at hospital patients, their rate of malnutrition would not be much less than that in the underdeveloped countries," Blackburn said.

Use of sugars for patients is based on a belief that sugar will cut down protein loss from the body. The sugar water protects protein of the muscle which is expendable during times when no food can be eaten, Blackburn said.

When the muscle protein is retained, it stands in the way of the body building more essential proteins to fight infection, heal wounds and make new cells, he said.

Blackburn said 187 patients had been given standard postoperative nourishment with d e x t r o s e solutions in the veins.

Those patients, he said, showed a greater loss of the essential proteins than did a comparison group of patients undergoing total fast or fast with intravenous amino acids, the building blocks of protein.

Brandt's power structure coming apart at seams

BONN (UPI) — Chancellor Willy Brandt is having his problems.

His cabinet unity is coming to pieces and his Social Democratic Party has suffered three stunning setbacks in local elections.

Two cabinet ministers publicly blamed the losses on Brandt's leadership.

Finance Minister Helmut Schmidt said West German voters abandoned the Social Democratic Party because Brandt had allowed leftwing Radicals to appear to be taking it over.

Klaus von Dohnanyi, Minister for Education and Science, said he thought the job of running the government perhaps was too much for 60-year-old Brandt and suggested the appointment of a person or persons to relieve the Chancellor of the necessity of deciding domestic policy.

B r a n d t a l l o w e d both Schmidt and Dohnanyi to remain in office but did pound the table at a party meeting to emphasize a statement that he alone makes all decisions and picks cabinet members.

Sources close to Brandt said he was merely marking time until May 15, when F o r e i g n Minister Walter Scheel is scheduled to be elected president of the republic.

W i t h Scheel's departure from the cabinet, Brandt will reorganize it completely, the sources said, eliminating both the disloyalists as well as some deadwood.

They s a i d the Chancellor hopes that reorganization will help reverse the trend against his party in legislative elections in the state of Lower Saxony in June and in Hesse and Bavaria in November.

In the first state election this year, in the traditional Social Democratic stronghold of Hamburg, the party lost 10 per cent of its voters. It lost five and seven per cent respectively in subsequent communal elections in the states of Rhineland-Palatinate a n d Schleswig-Holstein.

The Social Democrats remained a minority party until Brandt helped them slough off Marxism in favor of a social market economic policy.

Schmidt complained that Brandt now allows leftwing groups to give the impression they once more shape party policy.

"Many persons are unclear as to the medium and long-term goals of the Social Democratic Party because in many newspapers, they find statements by the Chancellor and p a r t y chairman printed in much smaller type than remarks by, for instance, younger party members who in no way agree with the policies which the Chancellor and party chairman wishes to pursue," Schmidt said, adding :

"I consider this ambiguity as the main factor in the current uncertainty of some persons who hitherto voted Social Democratic."

Chancellor-watching always is Bonn's leading activity, and star players are asking each other why Brandt sometimes seems to have removed his hand from the tiller.

Simple boredom is the explanation offered most often by those in more or less daily contact with Brandt.

Know Your P's and Q's About Plate Collecting?

WANTED: One rare, gilt-edge plate in pure white translucent china—hand-painted with a garland of wild roses. You find this prize plate in a jungle of antiques at a garage sale and buy it for $10.

THE YEAR is 1979. An eager collector wants to buy your wild rose plate for $395! If you sell it, you suddenly make $385, because you knew how to spot a "sleeper" with true artistic worth and rarity.

FICTION? Not altogether. Today, many average people with only average incomes make money buying and selling collector's plates while they enjoy one of the most fascinating of all hobbies.

Will this plate multiply in value to 10, 15 or even 20 times its original price as other plates have done?

For instance, a china plate first priced at only $10 in 1969 now brings $245. Another exceptional plate originally priced at $25 in 1965 now sells for $1,050.

WHAT is the secret of success in collecting plates for profit? A suburban Chicago art dealer says, "The amateur collector needs professional guidance. You should know what to look for, when to buy, and much more."

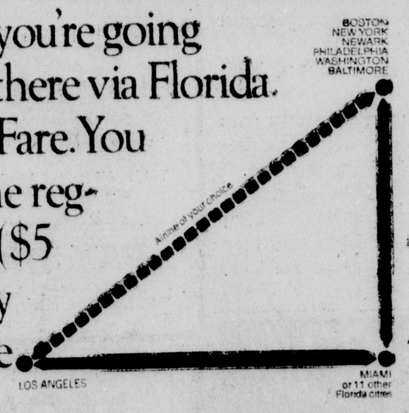

According to this dealer, when you know the guidelines, there's much more than profit in collecting rare plates. There's pride of ownership almost unequalled by any other hobby. There's the joy of discovering stunning porcelain, glass, pewter, or silver plates for dramatic wall displays.

You can choose designs by Pablo Picasso, Grandma Moses, André Restieau, Andrew Wyeth, and other noted artists. There are all kinds of themes—nature scenes, stirring historical events, childhood vignettes, portraits of world heros, and much more.

FREE INFORMATION. To help you get started in the rewarding hobby of plate collecting, this dealer now offers free information on request. It tells how to choose potentially priceless heirlooms for as little as $15 or $20. Individuals (not dealers) are invited to send for the free facts without obligation. To get yours, send your name, address, and zip code to Bradford Galleries, 1074 B Sunset Ridge, Northbrook, Illinois 60062. A postcard will do. Please mail your request by April 12, 1974, to reserve your free copy while the supply lasts.

I'm Peggy and I was born to fly. What's more, I have an interesting proposal. If you're going East, I'll fly you there via Florida. It's my Triangle Fare. You just add $5 to the regular coach fare. ($5 isn't buying very much elsewhere these days.)

You can do it coming or going, no strings attached. You can stop in Miami of course. But if you prefer, your stopover can be in Fort Lauderdale, Fort Myers, Jacksonville, Sarasota/Bradenton, West Palm Beach, Orlando (home of Walt Disney World), Tampa/St. Pete, Melbourne or Daytona Beach.

And you can stay in any of these places as long as you like.

I also have similar Triangle Fares between Los Angeles and Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, and Baltimore.

Between Los Angeles and New York fly American, TWA or United.

Hayes has aspirations as an actor

CHICAGO (UPI) — After four gold records and one Oscar, Isaac Hayes is trying his hand at acting, and if he acts like he sings he'll have a new career.

Hayes co-stars with Lino Ventura in the movie "Tough Guys" which had its world premier in Chicago. He plays the part of an ex-cop who was expelled from the force and who teams with an ex-con priest (Ventura) in the pursuit of an underworld figure wanted for numerous killings.

"Tough Guys," shot on location around Chicago, is produced by Dino De Laurentis, who has recently completed "Crazy Joe" and "Serpico." Duccio Tessari is the director.

Hayes, who wrote the music for the film, says he doesn't see "Tough Guys" as a black-white movie but a general one that parents can take their children to. The film has a PG rating.

Hayes is not exactly new to movie audiences. He won an Oscar for his film score of "Shaft" in 1972.

"It's very interesting, exciting, and it takes a tremendous amount of discipline," said Hayes who hopes audiences will accept him as an actor, not a stage entertainer.

Convincing

Hayes said while he was shooting on location people would ask him, "Why are you dressed up in a suit?" or, "Man, why you dressed so shabby?"

"They didn't realize that was the role I was playing," Hayes said. "If the role is that convincing maybe people will see me as Isaac Hayes the actor. On the stage the people are there to get your energies up. In front of the camera you have to adjust and keep the same level as on stage.

"You have to be convincing and real."

Hayes said he "will try to stay clear of those kinds of black films that are flooding the screens."

"I want to make more or less a 'picture' rather than a black-white picture," he said.

Show-biz success reads public mind

LONDON (UPI) — Paul Raymond was doing his fake mind reading act at a provincial British theater when he suddenly found himself able to read the mind of every man in the audience.

They were thinking: "Why doesn't he get off and let the girls come on?"

"It didn't hurt my feelings," Raymond said at rehearsals of the Royalty Follies, a $690,000 extravaganza that he believes will confirm him as the leading theatrical manager in London's West End.

"It made me think. Although I was paid 25 pounds ($57) for the mind reading trick, I put it aside and decided to give the public what it so obviously wanted — beautiful girls."

Recently Raymond, 48, acquired the famous Windmill Theater, haunt of American soldiers during World War II, whose proud boast was that it was the only theater to remain open during the German air "blitz."

"We never closed," blazed in neon lights on its facade until the sad day it was taken over for a soft porn movie house.

Girls, not chatter

Raymond, whose shaggy hairdo would not disgrace a pop star, will reopen the Windmill with a show built around pretty girls. This happens to have been the formula of the old Windmill, so why did it close?

"Too much chatter, perhaps," he said, recalling that the Windmill was the training ground of many British stars.

"We won't have so many comedians. These days capital cities are filled with tourists. They may not speak the language but there's nothing wrong with their eyes. So I'm going to give them sight acts— the best I can find.

"Like Miss Nude International and her Miami Dolphins who are starred in my Royalty Theater Follies. There's a sight for you. This beautiful human fish—you won't believe her name is Lindy Salmon—swims around in a tank in a bikini and the dolphins strip it away. You don't have to ask what's happening. You can see the result for yourself."

(The secret is to bait the bikini fastenings with fish.)

Most Expensive

The Royalty Follies will be the most expensive stage entertainment in Britain up to now, Raymond said, with specialty acts from all over the world. He is financing the whole spectacle himself.

With the Windmill Raymond will control five theaters, which makes him the biggest independent operator in London. He has had only one big loser in his career.

"I'm an entertainer," he said, "and I have a knack of judging what people like at any given moment."

As Exhibit A he cited the case of a play called "Pyjama Tops" which the critics predicted would not last a week and is now in its fifth year at his Whitehall Theater. Its profit at the moment is $1.84 million.

"It may not be a great play, but it's a jolly good night out," Raymond said. "And the audience isn't kept waiting around for something to get its eyes into. There are five nudes on the stage when the curtain goes up."

Kindergarten signups slated

CLAREMONT — Parents in the Claremont Unified School District may register their children for kindergarten for the 1974-75 school year April 2, 3, and 4, between 9 a.m. and noon and from 1 to 3 p.m. at the elementary school nearest their home.

Parents must have a birth certificate or other acceptable proof of the child's birth date and records of all immunizations the child has received.

Children will be eligible to attend kindergarten during the 1974-75 school year if they were born on or before Dec. 2, 1969.

UAW's 'desire' in 1949—an energy-saving small car

DETROIT (UPI) — The gasoline crisis may have created new interest in small cars, but it's not the first time Americans have had the chance to squeeze themselves into compact models.

Dozens of small cars were either introduced or proposed in the first years after World War II. None of them made the grade and quickly disappeared.

If you're past 35, you're old enough to remember the names: Henry J, Hudson Jet, Davis, Willys Aero, Nash Metropolitan, Crosley, Nash-Hudson American, Towne Shopper, Bobbi-car and the Playboy.

"They quietly died because of lack of consumer interest," explains Lee A. Iacocca, president of the Ford Motor Co. "Maybe they were ahead of their time.

"After World War II, the family sedan that could go for a loaf of bread or take the whole family to Yellowstone was the clear choice of the American car buyer," says Iacocca. "That was the choice."

The UAW's "Desire"

One small car you probably never heard of, unless you're a member of the United Auto Workers union, is the Desire.

It was just an idea and never even got to the drawing board. But the arguments used by the UAW in 1949 are just as relevant today.

The union contended that a light car could be made cheaply. It would cost less and conserve national resources, but wouldn't be built because "with auto monopolists, profits come before people's needs."

As envisioned by the union, Desire would have cost $1,000 in 1949, about $450 to $500 cheaper than the Chevrolet or Ford of its day. It would have had a 4-cylinder engine and be about 170 inches long, almost 30 inches shorter than the 1948 Ford or Chevrolet.

The whole idea, said the UAW, was to expand the market for new cars by hundreds of thousands of families in a time when automakers still couldn't meet the post-war demand for new models.

Made luxury cars

"When the auto companies introduced light cars abroad, they considered the pattern of purchasing power and income," the union said. "They knew that to market their cars abroad, they had to reduce the price.

"In the United States, however, they continue to make luxury cars out of scarce iron and steel for well-to-do families at expense of the families of farmers and wage earners," the union said in 1949.

The union wasn't suggesting anything as small as the midget cars that first appeared after World War II —the Crosley or Rovin Minicar —but something along the line of today's compact models.

The Desire wasn't to weigh more than 2,000 pounds and would have had a 105-inch wheelbase, 11 inches longer than the Ford Pinto and just two inches more than Ford's Maverick. Horsepower from the four-cylinder engine would have been about 80 and the car, as envisioned, would provide better than 25 miles per gallon.

The difference in size could have provided the additional steel to build 882,000 more cars, the UAW contended 25 years ago.

Why cars stayed big

Why then, wasn't a small car built by one of the major U.S. auto companies?

Ford's Iacocca says he has to supress an angry reaction when he hears an argument like: "You people in Detroit brought this on yourselves by building all those big gas guzzlers and forcing them on the public." Or maybe something like: "You refused to build small cars even though that's what the public wants."

"All of those 'devil-theory' questions can be summarized in the allegation that we have the uncanny ability to make people act against their own selfinterest," says Iacocca. "I've been hearing those accusations about our total domination of our customers for the 28 years I've been in the business."

Iacocca says Ford was almost ruined a couple of times when it failed to understand and keep up with its customers. Now, he says, Ford is leading the other automakers in the switchover to small cars.

"Some people suggest this is not enough, and I agree. We should have seen all this coming and we should have been further out in front," the Ford president concedes. "But you show me someone who tries to lead the market and I'll show you a candidate for bankruptcy.

"No matter what the poet said," Iacocca remarked, "the saddest words in business are these: He was ahead of his time."

The original mermaids

The manatee is not a pretty critter. Lives in the sea. Shaped like a sack. Sunken eyes. Bristly moustache. Fat upper lip. A tail like a spade. Grows about 15 feet long. Weights a ton. And tape measures more than seven feet around the waist. That beast is thought to have inspired among ancient sailors the earliest notions about beautiful mermaids. Those old boys must have been out on the water a long time, what?

Bananas breathe. They inhale, oxygen, exhale carbon dioxide, and generate their own heat . . . More than half of the new cedar chests are bought by boyfriends . . . Our Chief Prognosticator thinks we'll all be using aluminum pennies pretty soon . . . Police report a handgun is sold nationwide every 13 seconds . . . Were you aware that an estimated 20 million plastic bottles are floating around in the north Pacific?

Barbie

Q. "When was Barbie of Barbie doll fame born?"

A. Just 16 years ago.

Q. "How much is the average sale on a Master Charge card?"

A. Close to $20.

Q. "How often does the average college girl shave her legs?"

A. Twice a week. Even more often in the summer.

What, you still haven't figured out how to make $1 million? Nothing to it. Sell disposable diapers from wending machines in airports, bus depots and service stations. That's Item No. 1456B in my Bright Ideas file.

Presidents

Could you say you've ever loved a United States President? Depends on what you mean by love, I suppose. But pollsters put the question to a sizable sampling of citizens. And only 39 per cent of them said no. That president who got the most love votes in this survey was John F. Kennedy, Franklin D. Roosevelt came in second. Dwight Eisenhower, third.

Young lady, if you want that little toddler of yours to stay out of juvenile court later, teach same how to read. It's now reckoned that almost four out of five children legally named as juvenile delinquents have reading problems.

State traffic deaths down

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Traffic deaths for the first two months of this year are down nearly 30 per cent from the same period in 1973, the California Traffic Safety Foundation has reported.

This year when the maximum 55 m.p.h. speed limit was in effect, fatalities for the two months totalled 468 compared with 668 last year when the maximum speed was 65 m.p.h.

The figures reflect a decline in deaths of 29.9 per cent.

The foundation said the biggest reduction was in rural areas where the count was down 31.6 per cent compared with a reduction of 28.4 per cent in urban areas.

California Highway Patrol Commissioner Walter Pudinski attributes the reduction to the fact that fewer cars are on the highway as a result of the energy shortage.

Pudinski contends the speed limit should be restored to the higher level because the lower limit breeds disrespect for the law.

Separate bills have been introduced in the Senate and Assembly to increase the lim-

Tornado miss

MCRAE, Ga. (UPI) — A tornado touched down Friday on the farm of Mrs. Eugene Talmadge, mother of Sen. Herman Talmadge, barely missing the family homestead and uprooting 15 huge pines.

Mrs. Talmadge was inside the two-story colonial mansion at the time, but was not injured.

Adm. Rickover at academy

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI) — Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, who once called the U.S. Naval Academy "an East Coast Disneyland", returned to his alma mater Friday and etched his initials with a blowtorch into a building to be named in his honor.

Rickover, the father of the modern nuclear Nagy and a 1922 alumnus of Annapolis, said he was "grateful for this honor."

Last fall, Rickover called Annapolis "an East Coast Disneyland...a refuge and an asylum in which adolescence can be continued indefinitely."

Rickover Hall, to be completed later this year, will embrace 300,000 square feet of classroom and faculty space.

Drug tip agency to detail workings at state parley

ANAHEIM — We Turn In Pushers, Inc. (We T.I.P.), headquartered in Pomona, will present a three-day statewide seminar here to provide information and train volunteers in the unique organization dedicated to the reduction of drug trafficking in California cities. The event will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Sheraton-Anaheim Motor Inn.

State Sen. John L. Harmer, Rep. 21st Dist., will be the keynote speaker at the luncheon Saturday. He is the author of the book "Among the Living are the Dead" dealing with the "why" of juvenile drug abuse.

We T.I.P. State Director Bill Brownell said workshops will operate all day Saturday and Sunday morning for the sharing of ideas, information and training of new volunteers, and discussions with representatives from other states seeking to begin We T.I.P. programs. There will be an awards banquet at 7:30 p.m. Saturday with a panel discussion following. The panel will include representatives of the police, sheriff's departments, district attorneys, news media, and service clubs.

Brownell pointed out that in only two years We T.I.P. "without one cent of federal or state funding has channeled information from anonymous California citizens to law enforcement agencies throughout the state. This information has aided in the confiscation of over $4 million worth of illegal dangerous drugs and narcotics, the arrest of 521 suspected drug pushers, and the conviction of more than 121. There has been more than $12,000 paid out in rewards, although only 50 per cent of the anonymous informants wish to claim the reward of $100 to $500 offered by We T.I.P. for the arrest and conviction of a suspected drug pusher."

The We T.I.P. toll-free, statewide, telephone was established in February, 1973. This line (800-472-7785) has made it possible for citizens from throughout the state to call in information about suspected drug pushers operating in their communities. The state line is open Monday through Friday from noon to 6 p.m.

For more information about the We T.I.P. seminar or the organization residents may call the We T.I.P. information number, 714-623-1405.

Riverside gambling worries supervisors

SAN BERNARDINO (CNA) — A movement to introduce Nevada-type gambling into Riverside County has slightly raised the eyebrows of the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors. They want to make certain the innovation does not move over into their jurisdiction.

Sponsors of the "take a chance" movement believe a referendum in Riverside environs will succeed. Supervisor Robert O. Townsend, Chino, wondered if Riverside realized the limitations of California's gambling law.

Certain card games of chance are legal in the state under local option.

Pomona VFW post scores high in community project

POMONA — The Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2018 here has won the VFW's community activities award of merit.

The top national award was given the post and its auxiliary for a day-long program held to show appreciation for sacrifices made by prisoners-of-war and veterans of the Vietnam War. This included a parade, luncheon and dinner. Two former POWs attended as special guests.

The post's selection was a unanimous decision by the VFW national board of judges. The post will receive a bronze plaque.

Judges praised the post for sponsoring the activities which carry out a major aim of the VFW—to do everything to let veterans and POWs of the Vietnam War know its members appreciated the service they rendered in behalf of the nation.

"Such an inspiring program means much to our fighting men," said Ray R. Soden, national commander-in-chief. "More events of this type are needed throughout the country to demonstrate that America does care for our men in service."

Poly planning a stylish ceremony for new center

POMONA — Fanfare and cymbals, flowing Arabian silks and satins, a parade of champion stallions, and ceremonial ribbons will be part of the dedication activities planned for the formal opening of the W. K. Kellogg Arabian Horse Center Saturday at Cal Poly.

The ceremonies will begin in the new center at 2 p.m.

Members of the community and university faculty, staff, students and special guests will witness the presentation of the privately-funded center by Dr. Russell G. Mawby, president of the W. K. Kellogg Foundation—the contributor. Dr. Robert C. Kramer, Cal Poly president, will acknowledge the presentation; Harold O. Wilson, educational adviser to Gov. Reagan, will give the response for the people of California; and Dr. Glenn S. The new, red tile roof center given to the university includes a 1,200-seat grandstand and show arena, weanling barn, stables, stalls, paddocks, fenced pasture, classroom, farrier shop, laboratory, bedding storage area, tool storage space, and a veterinarian facility. The center also houses a covered, outdoor, 500-square-foot display area.

After the dedication activities, guests will be invited to tour the center.

Veterans Administration makes payment to widow

Please tackle the Veterans Administration for me.

I am at a complete standstill and if it were not for an exceptional landlord, I would not have a home.

Besides being two months behind on my rent I also am very late on the utilities due to financial difficulty, not unwillingness to pay.

I have written and called the VA several times without result and my landlord has also phoned.

In spite of this I have had no response of any kind. Please try to find out anything you can for me. My nerves can't stand much more of this tension of waiting. — Mrs. L. I., Pomona.

You wrote to us more than seven months after you had been notified of a VA determination that you were entitled to a death pension as a widow of a veteran.

M.C. Holland, the adjudication officer, wrote that payments could not be released to you because another woman had also applied for the pension.

Holland explained that she had a right to initiate an appeal by filing a notice of disagreement from the VA's disallowance of her claim within 60 days.

When we wrote to the VA we noted that after seven months you still didn't know whether the other "widow" had filed an appeal.

Two weeks later Gordon R. Elliott, then director of the VA regional office in Los Angeles, replied that the contesting widow had filed a notice of disagreement and now had 30 days to file a "substantive appeal."

At the end of the 30 days, you wrote to the VA but received no reply. We inquired and you have been notified that the other woman had appealed.

The case was forwarded to the Board of Veterans Appeals in Washington, D.C., for a decision.

Three months later we were notified that your pension had been granted at a rate of $87 per month retroactive to September 1972 and a hardship payment had been issued.

You told us the payment made it possible to pay off your patient landlord.

Six months ago I mailed $15 for the motor club membership I maintain through my insurance company.

To date I have called the insurance office at least a dozen times. The company keeps promising to send my card and that is the last I hear about it. Please help me if you can. — M.P., Pomona.

When we wrote to your insurance office, a reply came by special delivery.

It was a copy of an apology to you. Enclosed with the original, sent to you, was the membership card.

I own several very old books that are all in excellent condition. I am interested in selling them.

Would you be able to put me in touch with an interested party?

I also have an enameled cup that has quite a history.

It was either given by the last czar of Russia to one of his officers upon the occasion of his marriage to Alxandra or it may have been sent to him. It has both their royal crests on it and the date 1896 — Mrs. S. N., Rowland Heights.

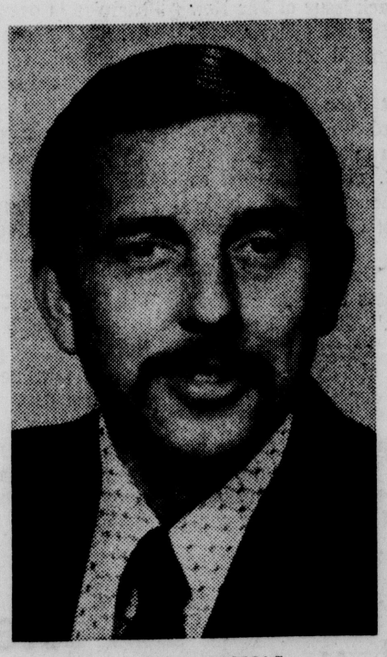

We told you that since Action Line mail is so heavy, we couldn't undertake to find a market for the books. You listed 11 of them with your letter.

We gave you the names and addresses of two firms which buy and sell old and rare books: London Book Co., 224 W. Broadway, Glendale, and Cherokee Book Shop 6607 Hollywood Blvd., Hollywood.

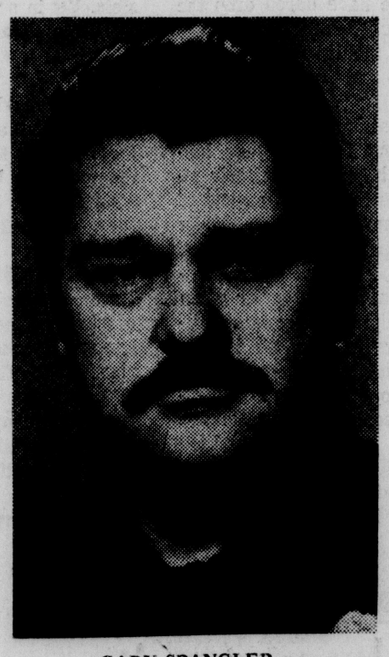

We told you of two antique stores which buy as well as sell and are not far from your home: Bradford's Trading Post, 844 E. Mission Blvd., Pomona, and Hamilton House, 1030 E. Alosta Ave., Glendora.

There are many such book and antique stores in Los Angeles. You will find them listed in the yellow pages of the Los Angeles phone directory, which you can consult at the public library.

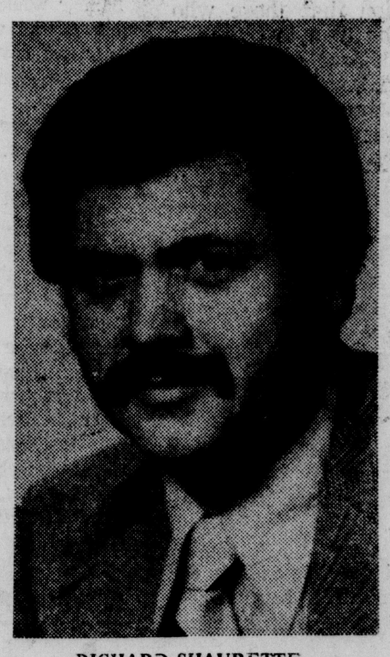

Be sure to contact several stores and compare offers.

4 veteran police officers promoted

POMONA — The promotion of four veteran police officers has been announced by Chief of Police Forest P. Wallick.

Sgt. Chet Thomas was promoted to lieutenant and Officers Gary Spangler, Richard Shaurette and Gary Muriset were made sergeants.

The promotions were partly responsible for 10 transfers within the department—the largest number of reassignments in recent years.

In addition to the promotion of Thomas, Spangler, Shaurette and Muriset, five other policemen were raised in rank. Senior Patrolmen Elias Valdez and James Holmes have been made detectives and Officers Archie Johnson, Stuart Holmes and Jerry McConnell have been promoted to senior patrolmen.

Wallick said the changes were due in part also to the creation of a new position, that of administrative services lieutenant, and to a desire to broaden the experience of some of those transferred. The changes are taking place at the present time.

The reassignments were:

Lt. Vernon Weigand from community relations to administrative services; Lt. Joseph Cenoz from patrol watch commander to community relations; Lt. D.L. Liming from detective bureau to patrol watch commander; Lt. Jack Blair from patrol watch commander to detective bureau; Lt. Thomas from community relations to patrol watch commander.

Sgt. Art Traber from patrol to community relatiions; Sgt. Brian Schubert from jail to patrol; Sgt. Muriset from vice and intelligence to jail; Detective Kurt Longfellow from detective bureau to vice and intelligence; and Sgt. Donald Whitehead from patrol to administrative aide.

Thomas has been with the department for nearly nine years. He was promoted to sergeant in 1968 and during that time was assigned to the patrol and detective divisions and at the time of his latest promotion worked in community relations.

Spangler has been with the department for 12 years. At the time of his promotion, he was assigned to the detective bureau.

Shaurette joined the department in 1967 after six years in the Marine Corps. He has been assigned to the patrol and jail divisions, the helicopter patrol as an observer and the criminal task force and was a senior patrolman at the time of his promotion.

Muriset joined the department in 1962 and at the time of his promotion was assigned to the vice and intelligence division.

Opinion

Professional army may be superior

Despite the show-me skepticism of many people, the all-volunteer Army is working, reports Secretary of the Army Howard H. Callaway.

When the draft ended on Dec. 31, 1972, the Army had 10 fully-formed combat divisions. Today, it has 13 such divisions, 10 of which are considered combat ready.

"The Army's on board, it's more disciplined, it's a better Army," says Callaway.

What this means is that for the first time since before World War II, except for a brief hiatus following the war, the United States is not relying on conscription to fill the Army's ranks. For the first time in a generation, young men can plan their futures without the threat of the draft hanging over their heads.

Actually, the development is more momentous than that.

For all of its history, until the onset of the Cold War, the peacetime Army was a volunteer organization. But the tiny, neglected, sometimes scorned and always poorly equipped forces that existed between the wars hardly qualified as armies. They were nucleus only, a cadre of professionals, expected to hold the line if war came, while the nation slowly mobilized itself.

The United States will never again enjoy that kind of leisure in the event of another major war. In this nuclear age, the exchange of missiles would be over, and the outcome probably decided, long before the country could whip its civilian population into a fighting force.

The Army, along with the other services, must be ready at all times—trained, competent and equipped—to play whatever roles they would be able to play in the ghastly scenario of nuclear war.

As for any more so-called "limited" wars, which scarcely seem conceivable in the light of the Vietnam experience, here, too, it must be the job of a professional Army. Although the draft law remains on the books, the nation is not likely again to give a president a "blank check" to send erstwhile civilians into dubious battle.

That the all-volunteer Army is working is the best news that Americans have heard since No. 158 was drawn from the lottery bowl back in 1940.

No news better than bad news?

Ten years ago, in a unanimous decision, the U.S. Supreme Court enunciated a doctrine which in the view of some critics, granted virtual immunity from the libel laws to newspapers.

The court ruled that a public official could not recover damages for defamatory statements about his official conduct unless it could be proved that they were made with actual malice or with the knowledge that they were false or with "reckless disregard" for their truth or falsity.

Today, journalists are concerned that this right of "uninhibited, robust and wide-open" debate on public issues, to use the words of Associate Justice William J. Brennan, is in danger of being nibbled away by a less liberal bench.

The Supreme Court has agreed to review a case arising under a Florida law which requires newspapers to print rebuttals from people about when they published adverse stories or comments. The fear is that, should the Florida statute be upheld, it would encourage similar laws in other states, or possibly a federal "right to reply" law which the Nixon administration intends to submit to Congress.

Even should all this come true, however, the press would still have one option that those who believe it needs "curbing" or who tend to blame it for the bad news it reports, might bear in mind.

That kind of self-imposed news boycott by editors will never happen of course. It would be damaging to the integrity of the press as it would be to the public interest.

But if the public really wants a press that plays it safe—that asks, "How will this story or this editorial affect us?" rather than, "Do the people have a right to this information"—that could be what it ends up with.

Campaign disclosure laws violated

WASHINGTON — Even as Congress debates new campaign reform laws, more than 200 senators, challengers and political commitees have violated the campaign disclosure laws already in force.

The list of senators and fundraising committees who failed to file on March 10, under penalties of a year in jail and a $1,000 fine, reads like a Capitol Hill ethics society. Among them are:

The Senate's conservative conscience, Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.; its "Mr. Consumer," Warren Magnuson, D-Wash.; the (John) Tunney Committee; two committees for Tom McIntyre, D-N.H.; (Strom) Thurmond Finance Committee; and Re-Elect Senator (Claiborne) Pell Committee.

In all, the Center for Public Financing of Elections found 34 senators, challengers and their personal committee who failed to file by the March 10 deadline. The tally was taken March 25.

The challengers who failed to file included such well-known former legislators as Rep. Nick Galifianakis and Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore. A number of less famous aspirants took their first steps toward new Senate careers by violating filing laws.

The center also toted up 132 special interest committees which violated the filing deadline. They range from savings and loan groups, to clothing workers, bankers, doctors, conservationists, firearms zealots and Realtors.

Along withs such serious violations by candidates and committees as failing to register at all, filers were often late or did not list full names and occupations, as the 1972 federal election campaign act requires.

While some of the committees are "leftover" committees from 1972 or "look ahead" committees for 1976, many are actively collecting funds now. Prosecutions, despite the high-sounding laws, are unlikely. Even when the Senate Secretary and House Clerk refer cases to the Justice Department, they tend to get pigeonholed.

The unpublished center study also shows which industries are bank-rolling senatorial campaigns. Not surprisingly, Big Oil leads the list with more than $40,000 spread out in $1,000-size chunks. Lesser contributions are not counted, nor is there any way of knowing how many under-the-table dollars flowed from the oil industry.

Commodity brokers in Chicago showed their loyalty to their former Board of Trade colleague Henry Hall Wilson, a candidate in North Carolina, by ponying up $37,000. Chemical and machinery also were big donors.

The money men for several senators also have used a Nixon Administration tax loophole for their fat cat contributors by setting up numerous small committees. Thus a donor can give $3,000 to each of several committees rather than a larger single gift that would require payment of campaign gift taxes. The champion gift-splitters were Sens. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, Alan Cranston, D-Calif., and Jacob Javits, R-N.Y. When other sentators' campaigns are included, the total amount which skirted tax collectors by this dubious means was $181,000.

Among the oddities turned up by the center was a tardy admission by Donald Rumsfeld, a versatile Nixon Administration official, that he still had $3,000 left over from a congressional campaign six years ago. Rumsfeld belatedly donated it to the U.S. Treasury.

The study also shows a host of Administration bigwigs contributing to various Senate campaigns. These include $1,000 from Army Secretary Bo Calloway, $1,000 from Deputy Defense Secretary William Clements and $1,000 each from diplomats John Humes, John Hurd and John Irwin.

FOOTNOTE: In fairness to the senators, their busy staffs sometimes simply forgot to file. Magnuson, as a typical example, has scrupulously filed in his home state and his committees have filed here. When we queried him about the one filing still outstanding, he had it on the way to the Secretary of the Senate within hours.

POLITICAL BENEFITS: When it comes to taking credit for increases in Social Security, President Nixon reaps even where he has not sown. For the fourth time in his Administration, a note to accompany April checks will tell the nation's 28 million recipients that Nixon signed the new bill.

What the President failed to tell them was that he has consistently opposed the increases, mainly on grounds they are inflationary. Actually, the practice isn't new. President Eisenhower started it all back in 1954.

But just because it's a tradition doesn't mean it has the respect of Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, chairman of the Special Aging Committee. He is trying to write a ban on the political enclosures into a new Social Security law.

PAUL HARVEY

The unimpeachables of yesteryear

If impeachment had threatened President Truman, he'd never have dared fire Gen. Douglas MacArthur; maybe that would have been good. But neither would he have dared drop the big bombs which ended the Pacific war and saved thousands more lives than they cost—and that would have been bad.

Every President is prone to mistakes in judgment. And because your hindsight is so much better than their foresight could possibly be, a review of some old newspapers would make some of them appear grotesquely inept.

But did they deserve to be impeached? I was at Pearl Harbor when our Navy's ships, theretofore dispersed, were brought into the harbor and lined up side-by-side so that it would be more convenient for naval officers to attend social events ashore.

So the Sunday it rained bombs they sank in bunches. And 4,675 Americans died that day, and there were a million more casualties in the war that followed.

Whoever let the Japanese get the drop on us, our own Commander in Chief, Franklin Roosevelt, was responsible. Yet in no back issue of The New York Times or The Washington Post do I see any demand for "impeachment."

When President John Kennedy authorized and aided the reinvasion of Cuba in 1961, then mistakenly withheld the promised U.S. air power—and so wasted the lives of 1,500 brave men—that was not one of our nation's finest hours.

Yet rereading The Post and The Times of those dates I see no mention of "impeachment." In 1964 President Lyndon Johnson contrived a false alarm in the Gulf of Tonkin as an excuse to intensify our military involvment in Vietnam.

The essential facts concerning this misrepresentation were duly noted by The Post and The Times, but neither of them nor any of the papers nor pundits which parrot them ever suggested "impeachment."

Hindsight shows the buggy burglary of Watergate to have been a goofy exercise in overkill, yet it killed nobody. It did not leave any bomb-dismembered bodies on sunken ships or blood-soaked beaches.

Indeed, the only casualties of the abortive invasion of Watergate are the perpetrators—caught in their own backfire.

Yet, for this misdemeanor by his subordinates, President Nixon is the target of impeachment proceedings.

Our nation's founders intended the President, the Congress and the courts to checkrein one another. But when news writers presume to law-making—or law-interpreting—that balance is distorted.

And if the day ever comes in our country when this coalition can harangue and harass and hound and overwhelm anybody, then it can "anybody."

Senior citizen housing

Mayor Ray J. Lepire, in lashing out at the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development in a council meeting, lashed out at the needy senior citizens of the city of Pomona. These people are not HUD nor are they responsible for abandoned housing.

They are again the victims of an unthinking civic leader who is sworn to aid and assist those who elected him to office. The injustice is multiplied by the apparent lack of rationale in reaching such a position. Mayor Lepire might have asked some very salient questions.

1. Is there a market for a 103 unit Senior Citizens housing complex?

2. Will it be an economically solvent housing management operation?

3. Will it meet the housing needs of a viable segment of Pomona's population?

4. If there is a need and HUD does not finance the construction and management costs, who in the private sector will provide for such a housing need?

It is apparent from the article in the Progress-Bulletin on March 19, 1974 that none of these questions were addressed or considered. The real question is who loses in an impossible posture as this? The Mayor—no. The city of Pomona — maybe. HUD — certainly not. The Senior Citizen — of course.—Hope M. Luxemberg, Pomona.

Gossip for today

A minimum wage of $2.30 an hour sounds mighty attractive even in these inflationary times. Unfortunately, however, you've first got to find a job in order to get paid that kind of money. With wages up and jobs down, one politician is even suggesting that perhaps the best way to make the most of this unhappy situation is to subsidize a gigantic Poverty Week celebration.

But in spite of $2.30 an hour minimum wages and Poverty Week celebrations, many disillusioned Americans are beginning to seriously doubt the ability of our politicians to solve the unemployment situation. Some disgruntled job seekers are even going so far as to accuse them of out and out discrimination. On that score there's one thing that can't be denied. Our government officials are going all out to make certain there are job opportunities for every available lawyer in the land.

OUR MAN IN WASHINGTON

Inflation nation's number one problem

By RICK GOTCHER
P-B Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — An issue far more important than impeachment of a President is coming up on Capitol Hill. It may not seem so on the surface, but unless Congress acts effectively to institute some much needed budget reform, future generations will be more concerned about the dismal buying power of their dollars than they will be over the political tragedy of one man, or one party.

The gross national product has eclipsed the trillion dollar mark. The federal budget will soon reach $300 billion. But even with this incredible affluence, the nation is still overspending its resources—and it is in Congress where much of the fault lies.

Congressional delays are costly. Because of its chronic inability to move quickly, not one fiscal year 1974 appropriation bill was passed before the fiscal year began.

This kind of dawdling has created the well known "continuing resolutions," a way to provide for the needs of federal agencies on an interim basis.

Unfortunately, these resolutions are becoming an annual occurrence, causing considerable uncertainty among legislators and bureaucrats over which programs to plan for refunding.

Also, open end appropriations—which allow agencies to suck up more money without too much control—have proliferated to the point that now, fully 75 percent of the federal budget is reportedly not controlled by either Congress or the Executive.

Some experts are saying the atmosphere created by the action taken when Congress finally does get around to budget control will have a like effect on all levels of government.

A universal stance against inflation is necessary. Whether liberal or conservative, it doesn't take much to see that the quality of life, as we know it, is incompatible with a continually growing national debt.

The federal deficit has increased about $200 billion in the past 20 years.

Federal outlays in 1975 will be almost 100 times the 1925 level—growing from $3 billion to almost $300 billion.

In only seven of the years since 1931 has the budget been in balance.

How can any nation hope to genuinely help the poor; improve health care and education; provide better housing; and do the many needed tasks to upgrade the standard of living for all people, when inflation is the number one problem?

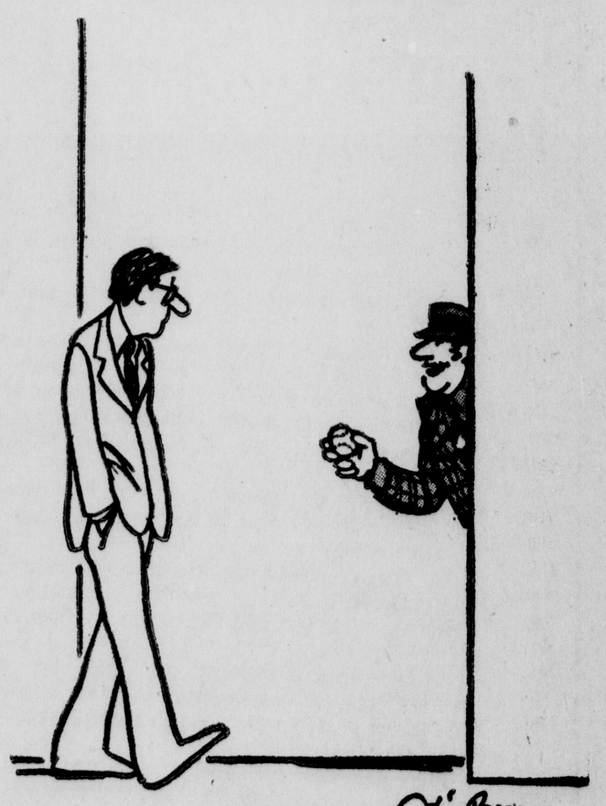

A congressional joint committee has looked into the problem and has come up with some suggestions. Hopefully, Congress will act out of character and come to a speedy resolution.

According to Capitol Hill sources, the proposals contained in the joint report would go a long way towards relieving the appropriations congestion that is so expensive.

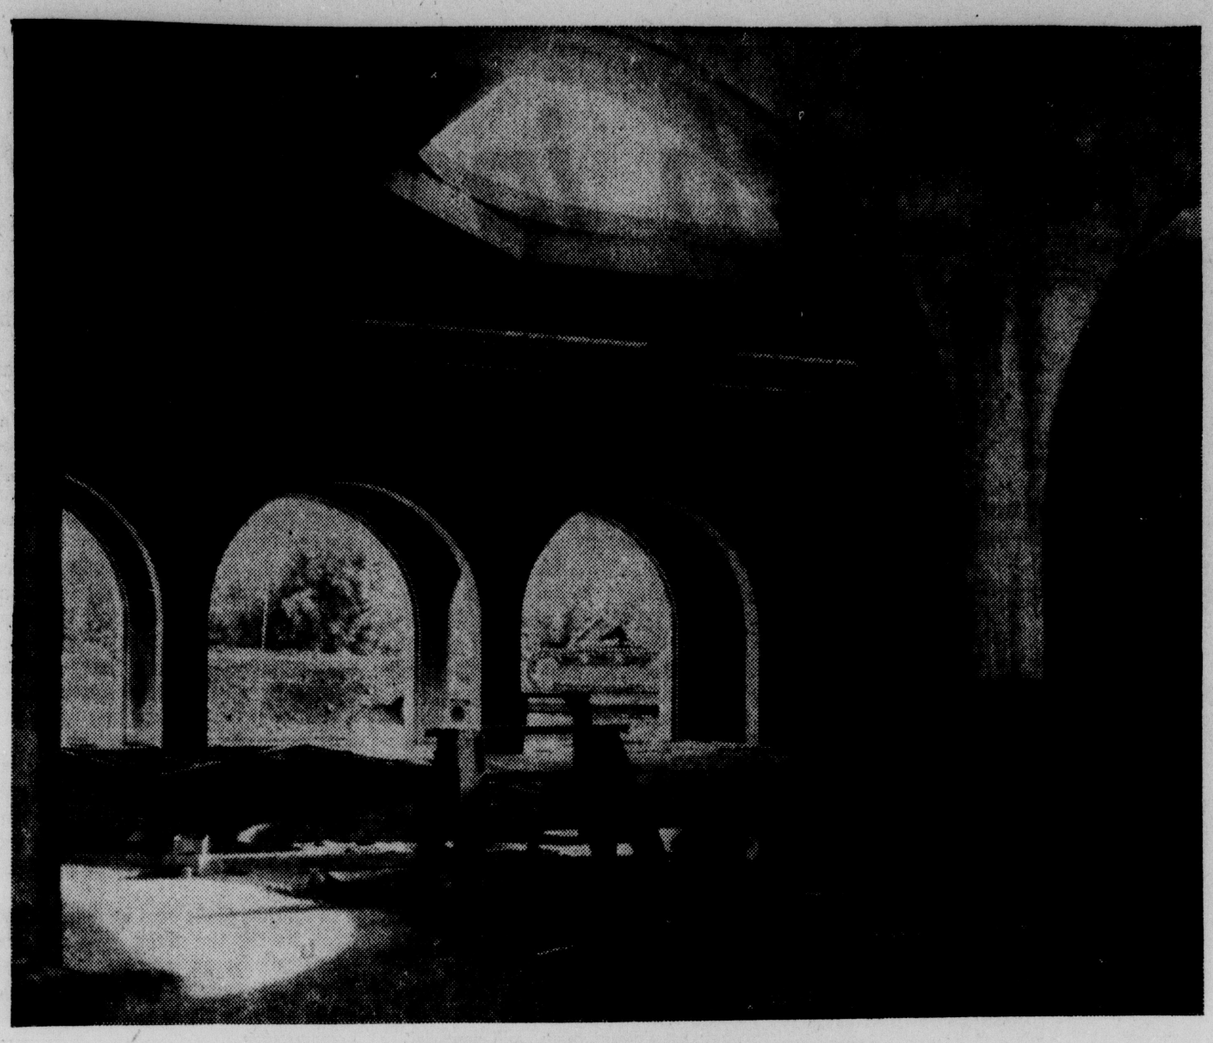

One historical legislative practice that could go by the boards if budget reform is passed is "log-rolling." This is when congressmen get together to promise support for each other's personal interests.

That the personal interests might be outside the scope of national priorities seldom enters the backroom discussions. Budget reform could put a halt to log-rolling and make legislators more aware of what it takes to run the country.

Kaiser urges change in U.S. steel trade policy

OAKLAND — "Some imported steel products are now commanding a premium price in the western steel market because government trade policies have discouraged domestic steel expansion the past 15 years."

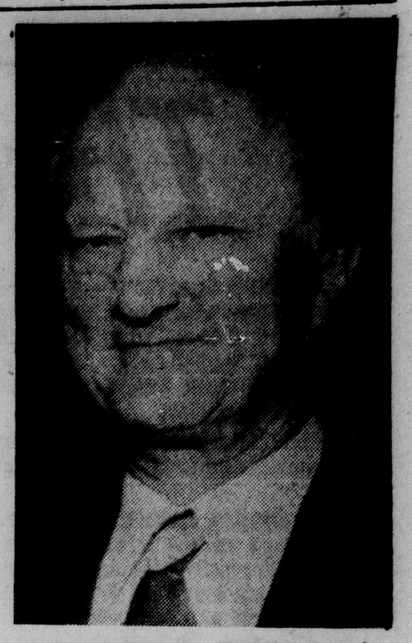

This was the testimony of Mark T. Anthony, vice president and general manager of Kaiser Steel Corp., before the Senate Finance Committee holding hearings on the proposed Trade Reform Act of 1974.

He called for an amendment to the bill which would allow the president and the tariff commission to take remedial action against import injury on a regional basis.

"The Western United States has seen all of its market growth go to foreign steel over the past 15 years," he said. "In some product lines, half of the entire market and more has gone foreign. This was achieved by undercutting domestic prices by whatever amount necessary to achieve the desired market penetration.

"Now that world demand is high and world prices are better elsewhere, western steel consumers find themselves unable to get much of the steel they need.

"The reason for this is clear. Government trade policies as administered over the past 15 years were impotent to deal with the situation. In more recent history, price controls have aggravated the problem."

Three Dolphins get rich in WFL

TORONTO, Ont., (UPI — The three Miami Dolphin stars who have signed for a total of $3 million to jump to the new World Football League think other National Football League stars may follow their example.

One of the first could be their Miami teammate, star tackle Manny Fernandez.

Line-smashing fullback Larry Csonka, who signed with the Toronto Northmen along with running back Jim Kiick and passcatching whiz Paul Warfield, said he has talked with Fernandez, who has an offer from Portland of the WFL, and found Fernandez "very interested" in jumping.

And Warfield predicted, "Our signing will have a bearing on what others will do if and when they are asked to jump."

The triple signing, the most prestigous step taken by the new league in the biggest challenge to the old established National Football League since the NFL merged with the old American Football League, was disclosed Sunday.

Exact details of the contracts, which call for the trio to play for the Dolphins this year under the options in their Dolphin contracts and then come here in 1975, were not revealed. However, it was disclosed the package breaks down to roughly $1 million per year to be divided in an undisclosed manner among the three.

The signings followed conferences here among Edward Keating, who represented the three players, and Toronto owners John Bassett and H. A. Stallway.

Csonka, who was getting about $60,000 from Miami, explained that the Northmen offered the trio "more than we anticipated...even more than we had asked for." But he added that the financial consideration was not the only reason for jumping.

"Money isn't always the only consideration," said the 27year-old fullback who was voted the Most Valuable Player in the Dolphins' Super Bowl victory in January. "In this case, it is one of the considerations, of course. But there are others which I do not wish to discuss."

The reaction south of the border was mixed. In Miami, the Dolphins reacted bitterly and talked of possible court action. In New York, a top NFL official more coolly expressed "disappointment."

"We were torpedoed," declared Dolphin owner Joe Robbie in Miami. "We're going to completely investigate our legal rights in a situation where three of our players have signed contracts while still under contract to us."

Robbie said said agent Keating had given him an ultimatum at midday. He said Keating told him to make them an offer of $3.5 million to stay in Miami and to deposit $3 million of that in a bank with a no-cut, no-trade contract and the total payable to the players' heirs if anything happened to them.

Robbie said he turned that down flat, and added, "Have you ever been asked to put $3 million in the bank as the price of continuing the conversation?""

In New York, Jim Kensil, executive dirctor of the NFL and chief aide to NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle, said the players' decision to jump was "their business" but that he was "disappointed" such high quality players "would so abruptly leave those who have invested so much in them."

In Hollywood, Fla., Dolphins coach Don Shula, for whom the three players expressed great personal loyalty, said he was surprised because he didn't think the trio was going to come to a decision so quickly.

Shula said he asked the three players to go to Toronto and "listen to what the people in Toronto had to say." He added, "I thought they were going up there to do that and then they would the give the Miami Dolphins a chance to negotiate face to face. I'm disappointed that's not the way it happened."

Csonka said his other reasons for wanting to jump defintely did not include the Miami fans, who are "super," or Shula.

"I'd love to play football for him (Shula) the rest of my life," Csonka said, "but sometimes the things you want to do most simply aren't in the cards. As I've said, there are a lot of factors involved."

The big deal faces one major obstacle here in Canada. The Federal government already has expressed its opposition to a WFL team in Canada. Health and Welfare Minister Marc Lalonde has repeatedly said he will attempt to keep the WFL out of the country on the grounds it could damage the Canadian Football League.

Basset has said that if his team cannot play in Toronto, it will move to a city in the United States. Csonka, Kiick and Warfield will then join the team wherever it is located.

Bassett added he hoped the signing would influence the government to change its stand on the WFL.

The Northmen had made no secret they intended to go all out to get the three Miami stars, announcing in advance of the WFL draft that they would zero in on them, then following through by picking them, and now putting together the big money package.

Leo Cahill, general manager of the Northmen, indicated that other WFL clubs would pay part of the cost of this signing, a huge prestige boost for the whole league, but did not indicate how much.

Csonka, rated the top fullback in the NFL at the present time, is a former Syracuse University All-America who has starred for six seasons with the Dolphins. In 1971 and 1972 he became the sixth man in NFL history to gain more than 1,000 yards on the ground for two straight seasons.

Kiick, 27, is close to Csonka off the field and the two are nicknamed in Miami, "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid." Kiick, however, often has complained about not being played enough by Shula. Like Csonka, Kiick, from Paterson, N. J., has been the with the Dolphins for six seasons.

Warfield, at 31 the oldest of the trio, formerly starred for the Cleveland Browns before coming to the Dolphins where he continued to be rated as one of the top wide receivers in pro football.

In Florida, Shula said he didn't know what having the three stars on his squad this season with the knowledge they were jumping to a new league would mean to the Dolphins' spirit and performance.

"This is a situation that we just haven't faced before," Shula said.

It's a statement that could be applied to the whole NFL.

Easy decision for Robbie

NEW YORK (UPI) — The decision was an easy one for Joe Robbie to make.

He just didn't happen to have $3 million on him at the time, so he said the only thing he really could...no!

I haven't run a check on Joe Robbie's money lately, but something tells me he'd be hard put to come up with those boxcar figures the representative of Larry Csonka, Jim Kiick and Paul Warfield was reeling off to him over the telephone from Toronto Sunday.

This wasn't one of Pete Rozelle's any given Sundays either.

What happened on this particular one was that the World Football League played table stakes poker with the older, much better established National Football League, and won.

The WFL called the NFL's hand, and made it turn its cards down.

Put still another way, on Saturday the WFL was nothing.

On Sunday, with one bold move, it was an authentic major league.

That, in substance, was what the WFL achieved by signing Csonka, Kiick and Warfield.

Considering that major league franchises, let alone an entire league, go for far more than $3 million today, I'd have to say the WFL got itself a bargan.

Leo Cahill, the general manager of the Toronto Northmen for whom Csonka, Kiick and Warfield will begin playing next year, reveals the sum paid the three Miami players was even in excess of $3 million, and counting certain deferred payments, he's telling the truth.

Csonka, as befits pro football's No. 1 fullback and the Super Bowl MVP, will receive nearly $1.5 million from the Northmen over a three year period.

Flat million

Warfield, as fine a wide receiver as there is, signed for a flat $1 million.

Kiick, the bearded running back who periodically complained he wasn't getting enough playing time from Don Shula due to the presence of equally capable Mercury Morris, isn't exactly being left out in the cold either. He's getting $900,000 over three years. The total money package is somewhat astonishing even in this day of runaway inflation.

Csonka admits it is more than he expected.

"The Toronto club offered us more than we anticipated — even more than we had asked for in the exploratory package," he said.

Warfield goes even further.

He says he "couldn't believe it" when he first saw the $3 million figure in a newspaper a couple of days ago.

Why not, I asked him?

"Well, not everything I read in the papers is true," he laughs. "I have a tendency not to believe everything I read in the printed media."

Paul Warfield attends Kent State in the off season and does a radio sports show there. He could be more oriented to radio and TV than he is to newspapers.

This time, however, what he read in the newspaper was true, wasn't it?

"Yes," he says, still laughing, "this time it was true."

Csonka, Kiick and Warfield all agree they jumped to Toronto for only one reason, and the reason didn't have so much to do with money itself, they claim, as it did have to do with the future of their families.

Open mind

"We hope the fans in Miami will have an open mind about this and realize that we are businessmen as well as football players," says Csonka, who has taken a lot of hard knocks, lumps and bruises during his four years at Syracuse University and six subsequent years with the Dolphins.

"It's been tough the past few years," he goes on. "I've never really been able to spend as much time as I wished with my boys, Douglas, and Paul. This will enable me to spend more time with them. I think the Miami fans are super. I would have loved to play football the rest of my life for Don Shula, but sometimes things you want to do most just aren't in the cards."

Bucks take 2-0 lead

Pressure now on L.A.

LOCAL - NATIONAL Sports

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — The Milwaukee Bucks are two up on the Los Angeles Lakers in their playoff series and a buoyant coach Larry Costello said today "the pressure will really be on Los Angeles" if his club can split the next two games on the West Coast.

Costello said it may be wishful thinking, knowing his club lost all three games during the regular National Basketball Association season with the Lakers in their big Forum arena.

But Costello was beaming and confident after his Bucks demolished the Lakers, 109-90, Sunday night.

The best of seven semifinal western conference playoff series shifts to Los Angeles for games three and four Tuesday and Thursday nights.

"It's tough to play there, and there'll be a little more pressure," he said. "But if we split, the pressure is on Los Angeles."

He wanted more to talk about Sunday night. "It was a team victory: Williams was penetrating, Oscar was super, Kareem was great, and McGlocklin hit some key ones," he said.

Laker Coach Bill Sharman, still bothered by two technical fouls called on him and Hap Hairston, said, "We'll have to bear down, fight fire with fire. You've got to shoot well against the Bucks, and we didn't tonight. We'll have to work for better shots next time."

Oscar Robertson, the 14-year Bucks' veteran, was more cautious about going to Los Angeles, saying "anything can happen there." Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, the most valuable player in the league, put it another way when asked if the Bucks will have trouble: "Depends on if Los Angeles plays the way it did tonight."

For the first few minutes Sunday night, it looked like a repeat of Friday's 99-95 Bucks' win —hard fought and close.

But when Ron Williams, hero of the Friday win, shot the Bucks ahead 14-12, the Bucks were on their way despite a Laker surge near the end of the half that narrowed it to 50-48. The Bucks opened up a nine-point lead before Connie Hawkins hit four baskets in a row.

That didn't fortell what was to happen to Los Angeles in the third. The Bucks outrebounded them 17-9 and hit 10 of 20 shots, to put the game away — running off 10 points in a row, with Robertson getting five of them and Williams firing in a basket and zipping a pass for a score to Robertson.

The Bucks were firing, scrambling for the ball, dominating the boards. And when Abdul-Jabbar stuffed a basket on a pass from Williams to make the spread 19 points, the crowd roared.

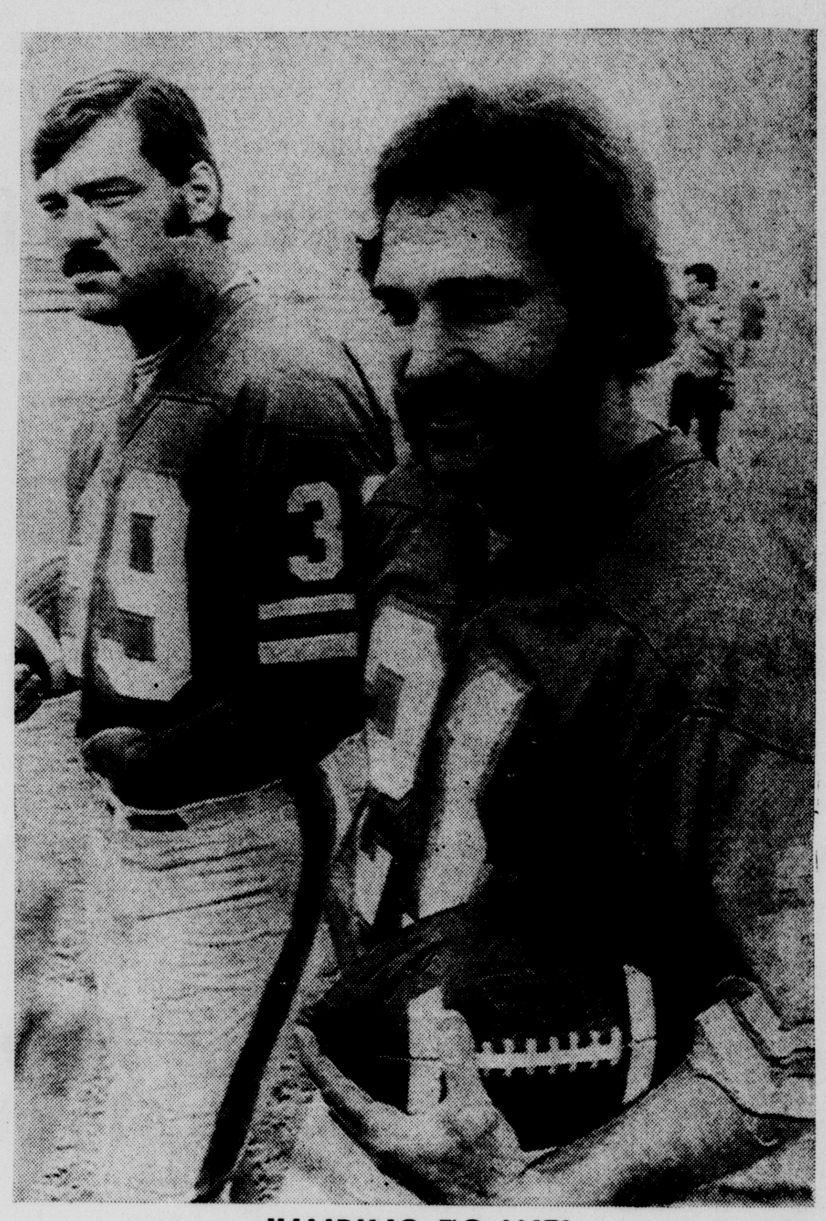

Williams, who fouled out later in the quarter, and Jon McGlocklin dogged Lakers' star Gail Goodrich and "held" him to 21 points. He had hit 35 Friday night. Cornell Warner again put the clamps on Hairston, holding him to six points and 10 rebounds. McGlocklin popped in five jumpers, too.

Jabbar, who hit 31 Friday night and grabbed 21 rebounds, outdid that Sunday night, getting 32, and 25 rebounds. Bob Dandridge rammed in 21 and Robertson 19. Connie Hawkins and Elmore Smith had 16 each for Los Angeles.

Indicative of the way things were breaking for the Bucks came in the fourth, when Abdul-Jabbar missed a fast break layup, got the rebound, passed to McGlocklin. He fumbled the ball, then dribbled away and tossed in a long jumper.

In the only other playoff game Sunday night, the Capital Bullets evened their series against the New York Knicks at 1-1 in games by beating the Knicks, 99-87, in Landover, Md.

The only playoff action tonight is in Detroit where the Pistons, who scored a road game breakthrough Saturday by beating the Chicago Bulls, 97-88, in Chicago, get a chance to take a commanding lead in their series.

Dodgers run over Angels

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES — Walter Alston, the veteran manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers, is reluctant to say his 1974 team will be running.

But the spring exhibition statistics clearly indicate the Dodgers will be sprinting this season.

Los Angeles put its feet in motion Sunday afternoon to defeat the California Angels, 8-4, to take the rubber game in the weekend Freeway Series.

Bill Buckner, who scored seven runs in the series' three games, earned the Fresco Thompson Memorial Trophy for being selected the Most Valuable Player in the series.

Buckner also displayed the Dodgers' running the best when he stole second, third and home in the seventh inning to give the Sunday turnout of 17,218 fans a big thrill.

The Dodgers leftfielder took advantage of Nolan Ryan's long wind-up and sprinted home as Ryan threw the ball past catcher Ellie Rodriguez.

"Yes, I had a lot of fun today on the bases," Buckner said. "I hate to make predictions but I hope to steal about 30 bases this season. The game is a lot more fun when you're doing something out on the bases."

"I have been working on stealing," Buckner continued. "I feel that's one way I can help the team. I get a lot of singles so I got to advance to second base some way."

Asked about his steal of home, Buckner replied, "Ryan was paying attention to me. When he saw me go, I think he quickened his throw. There were two outs so I thought an extra run wouldn't hurt anything. I feel I have good judgment on when to run."

The Dodgers stole six bases Sunday and four in Saturday's win to jump the spring training total to 45.

"We will run as much as we can within reason," Alston explained. "It depends on the situation. Buckner was on his own. We usually like to let our base runners use their own judgment but we do have a stop sign."

Alston agreed with the writers that base stealing king Maury Wills has helped this year's club with his lessons at Dodgertown in Vero Beach.

"Maury spent a lot of time with our players," Alston said. "We have had past teams steal a lot of bases but most of the steals were concentrated on Wills and Willie Davis. Overall, this team has more potential."

In summing up his position, Alston added, "We're trying to encourage extra base running. Sometimes, we will look foolish. But we will win more games then we will lose because of the running."

Alston was also delighted by relief pitcher Mike Marshall's successful squeeze bunt in the eighth inning to score Tom Paciorek.

"Marshall is a good athlete," Alston said. "He did a heck of a job bunting that pitch. A lot of players wouldn't have been able to even get a piece of the ball."

Besides his bunting, Marshall hurled three scoreless innings to preserve the win for Al Downing.

With Marshall and Jim Brewer, the Dodgers appear to have a big edge in the bullpen. They combined to blank the Angels in eight innings over the weekend.

The Angels must be somewhat concerned about Nolan Ryan, the flamethrower who won 21 games last year and set a major league second strikeout record with 383.

Ryan, who will pitch in Friday's American League opener in Chicago, completed his spring training with a 0-3 record and 5.63 earned run average. The Dodgers belted the Angel ace for seven hits and six runs in seven innings Sunday. Ryan walked six and struck out eight.

"He still isn't 100 per cent," Angel manager Bobby Winkles said. "He has had the flu then tonsillitis and that took a lot out of him. I thought he would really go today."

The Dodgers took advantage of Ryan's wildness to grab a 4-0 lead after the first two innings but Lee Stanton's three-run homer tied the score in the fourth frame.

Catcher Joe Ferguson put the Dodgers in front with a homer to open the fifth inning.

DODGER DATA — The Dodgers will close their exhibition schedule in Arizona with three games this week. Tonight's 7:30 p.m. game from Phoenix against the San Francisco Giants will be televised by KTTV (Channel 11). L.A. will play the Giants again Tuesday night and the World Champion Oakland A's Wednesday afternoon before returning home for Friday's National League opener against the San Diego Padres . . . .

Dodger publicist Fred Claire, who resides in Pomona, will be featured on this evening's 7 p.m. Dodger Dugout pre-game show on Channel 11. He will explain how to keep score . . . .

The Angeles will keep busy this week playing collegiate teams. The Halos will visit UC Irvine at 4 p.m. this afternoon, USC at 6 p.m. Tuesday and UC Riverside at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday . . .

Dodger pitcher Andy Messersmith, who beat the Angeles, 9-2, Saturday in allowing only three hits in seven innings, was a near-unanimous choice for the Lefty Phillips Memorial Trophy as the Outstanding Pitcher in the series . . .

Doug Rau will pitch for the Dodgers tonight against the Giants' Mike Caldwell. It will be Tommy John vs. Jim Barr Tuesday. Sutton will open the N.L. campaign Friday against San Diego . . .

Frank Tanana is scheduled for the Angels against Irvine today with Bill Singer slated for USC Tuesday . . .

The Angels optioned shortstop Rudy Meoli, catcher Rick Stelmaszek and pitcher Bill Gilbreth to their Salt Lake City farm club . . .

Los Angeles has won 13 of its last 14 games and has held the lead in all 21 spring games.

John Wooden to return thanks to wife's request

ATLANTA (UPI) — Mrs. John Wooden has told "the John Wooden" that his place is at UCLA. That being so, the Bruins need not apply for a new basketball coach.

The most successful basketball coach in collegiate history, lugging off a trophy for absent center Bill Walton, said he will be back to coach the Bruins next year despite rumors to the contrary.

"My wife told me she wants to be back, and generally speaking I try to follow her desires," said Wooden.

"After our loss (to N.C. State in the NCAA semifinals), there might be some people connected with UCLA who might want me to retire," joked Wooden, who has coached the team for 26 years. "But I definitely expect to be back at UCLA next year."

Wooden attended the Atlanta Tip Off Club banquet where he accepted the James Naismith Trophy for his All-America center.

Walton, who missed the show, was voted best the basketball player in the country by United Press International for an unprecedented third straight time.

Wooden refused to offer excuses for his shy big man, who has been inclined to shrug off public meetings in the past. But he did apologize for Walton's absence.

"It had nothing to do with our defeat," said Wooden. "So many people are after him that he told me before the tournament he was going to the mountains to get away from everybody."

The nation's winningest basketball coach also said that UCLA would have a good team next year and a "very exceptional team the year after next.

"We graduated six seniors and I'm proud of that," he said. "I'm proud of our players who have become lawyers, teachers and successful in other professions.

"That's the purpose of being in college, not to become professional basketball players."

Wooden said that he would like to see three rules changes in college basketball today.

"I'd like to see a 30 second clock put in; I'd like to eliminate all jump balls and I'd like to do away with offensive rebound baskets."

Wooden also said he believes there is much less cheating in recruiting than is generally believed. "It's always easy to say he must have cheated when some coach gets a player you wanted," he smiled.

The greatest requisite for a successful coach, he said, is patience.

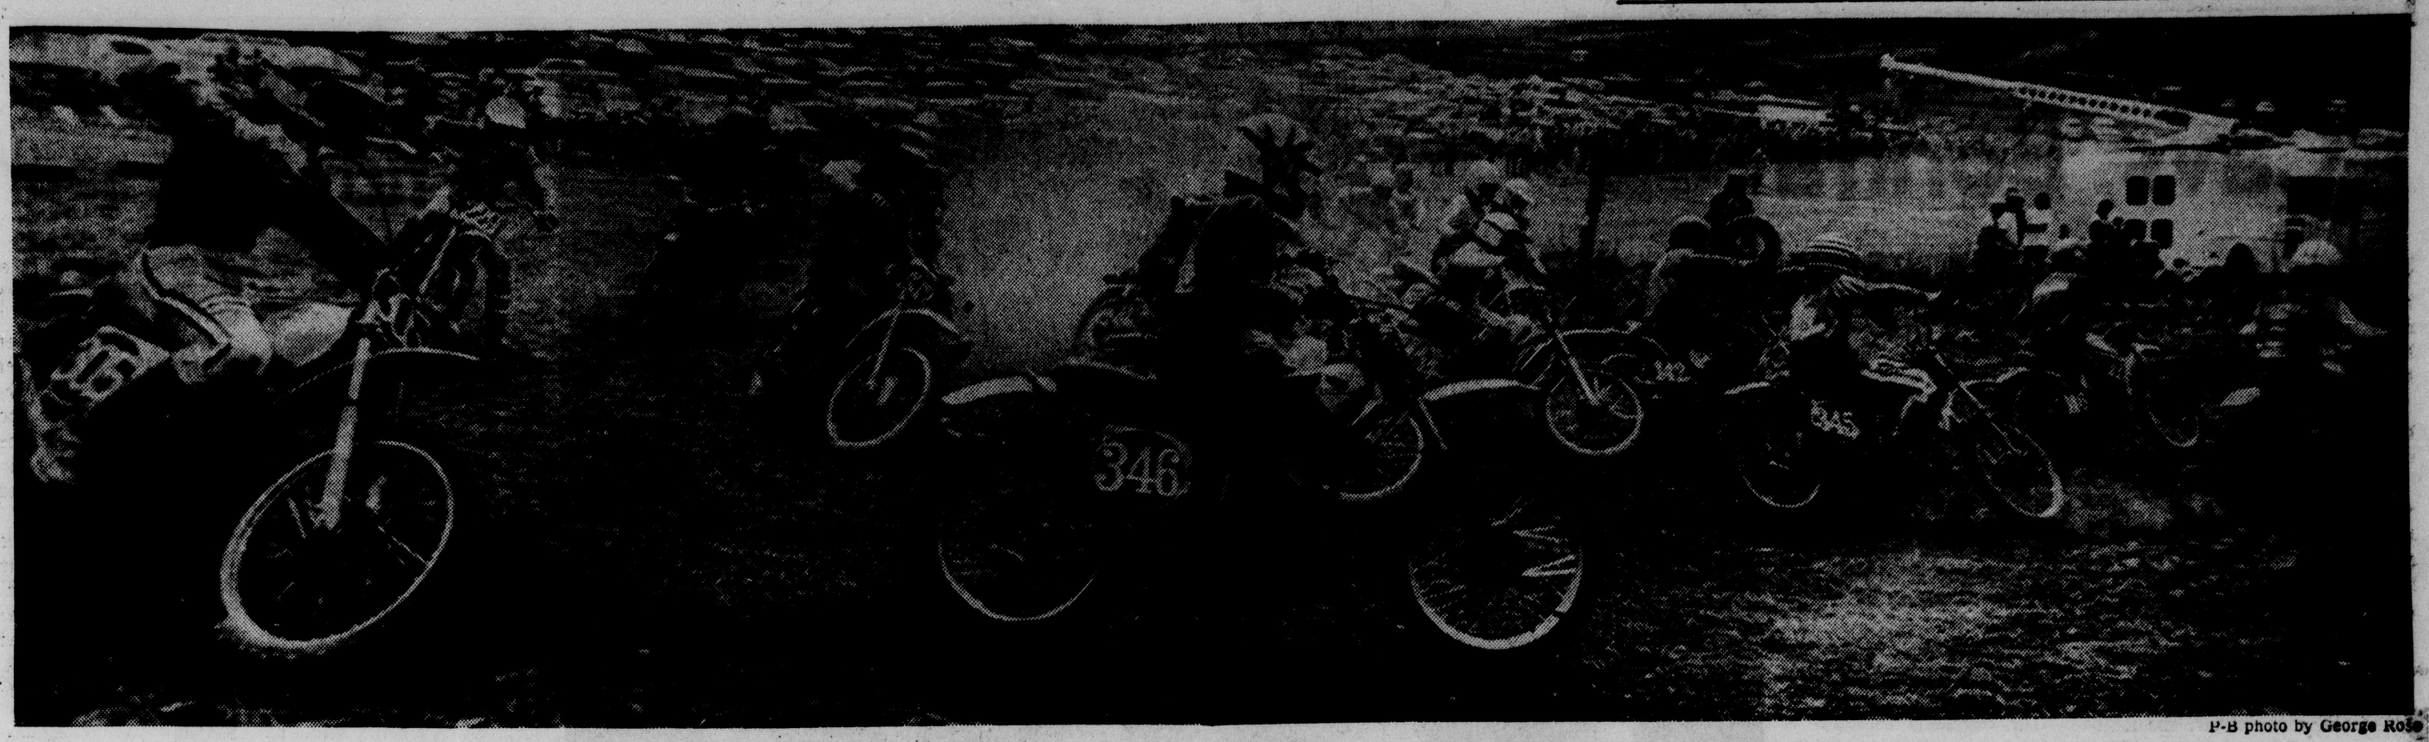

"One of the weaknesses of most young coaches is that they expect too much too soon."

Foreman stays in Venezuela

CARACAS (UPI) — Undefeated heavyweight champion George Foreman continued his unwanted Venezuelan vacation today while lawyers tried to untangle his tax problems resulting from last Tuesday's successful title defense against Ken Norton.

Foreman is not permitted to leave Venezuela until his tax problems are resolved to the satisfaction of local authorities.

The champion's manager-trainer, Dick Sadler, said he hoped the necessary tax clearance could be otained in time for Foreman to catch a late afternoon flight to the United States.

Giants host CIF contest

POMONA — Ganesha High's girls' basketball team will host Santiago High of Garden Grove tonight in the quarter-finals of the CIF playoffs.

Ganesha has defeated Northview, 53-38, and Newport Harbor, 34-28, to advance to the quarter-finals. A win tonight would send the Giants into the semifinals Wednesday. The championship game will be played Thursday night at Long Beach City College.

As of press time this morning, Ganesha wasn't certain if the game will be played at its gymnasium or at Mt. San Antonio College.

Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Trevino not upset by win drought

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Lee Trevino says going for more than a year without a victory on the PGA tour didn't bother him.

"But it did take away my privacy," said Trevino. "When you don't win and you're sitting in a restaurant or having a drink with someone, some guy is always coming over and grabbing you by the shoulder and saying 'what's your problem?'"

Trevino rejoined the winners' circle Sunday, blistering the Lakewood Country Club Course with a seven-under-par 65 for a 72-hole total of 21 under-par 267.

That was more than enough to win the $30,000 first prize in the Greater New Orleans Open. Trevino has not won since the Doral Eastern more than a year ago.

"The public doesn't realize how hard it is to win out here," said the 34-year-old Mexican. "The best I can say when somebody does that is the other guys aren't letting him win."

Trevino posted consecutive rounds of 67, 68, 67 and 65 on the par 72, 7,080-yard course. He did not suffer a bogey during the tournament.

Trevino missed only three greens during the tournament and none Sunday, when he broke away from the pack with four birdies on the first six holes. The resident of El Paso won by an incredible eight strokes over runnersup Ben Crenshaw and Bobby Cole.

Trevino said the final round 65 was "as near a perfect round as I've ever played with the league."

Trevino started the final 18 deadlocked with Cole at 14-under-par 202, but the little South African never challenged and took a 73.

Crenshaw, who posted a course record-equalling 64 Saturday, moved into a tie for second with a birdie on the 71st hole and took a 70.

Trevino said he was a little surprised that none of the other leaders made a run at him.

"The thing that was in my favor," said Lee, "was that the wind was blowing a little harder. That meant that the others, like Cole and Crenshaw, couldn't reach three of the par fives."

Trevino's 267 was the best 72-hole total of the year on the PGA tour and topped the Greater New Orleans Open record by four strokes. The eight-shot advantage also was the biggest winning margin this year.

Trevino said he knew he was going to have a good final round on the first hole when he cut a 5-iron eight feet short of the pin.

"I missed the putt, but I knew it was going to be a good day," he said.

"For the leader of a tourament, that first putt is like a football player going onto the field. After he gets hit the first time, it's okay."

Trevino plans to play in the Greater Greensboro Open, which starts Thursday, then take two weeks off from the tour.

Fans blink at baseball exhibition

By United Press International

The largest baseball crowd in eight years turned out Sunday in Orlando, Fla., lured by the final appearance there of the man about to break Babe Ruth's record, and they not only saw him, but they also saw a brand of baseball which made them blink.

The prime attraction, of course, was Hank Aaron, appearing with the Atlanta Braves.

But in the end, it was the muddled Minnesota Twins who put on the best show, and the 5,103 who were on hand still aren't sure what they saw at at Tinker Field was pure comedy or watered-down tragedy.

Atlanta beat Minnesota, 6-5, the Twins suffering their 20th Spring setback in 23 outings, but it was the way the Braves did, coming up with two unearned runs in the ninth with two out and without benefit of a base hit, which sort of overshadowed everything that Aaron did.

Reliever Vic Albury, the loser, had two strikes and no balls on Mike Lum when he walked him and the next batter also. Tom Burgmeier came in and hit Rowland Office to fill ths bases after which Dusty Baker bounced a squibber to first baseman Jim Holt, who bobbled the ball and then kicked it allowing two runs to score.

As for Aaron, he hit a high infield pop-up that went for a double in the second inning when the Twins lost the ball in the sun. Then in the fourth he lifted unother pop-up which third baseman Eric Soderholm let drop for an error.

So much for great defenses.

Cardinals 5 White Sox 2

Bob Gibson, tuning up for his Opening Day pitching assignment with the Cardinals, limited the White Sox to two runs in seven innings en route to a 5-2 St. Louis victory.

The first four White Sox batters hit safely in the first inning but sloppy base-running was responsible for them scoring only one run. Gibson checked the White Sox on only one hit over the next five innings before yielding another run on two hits in the seventh.

Royals 9 Red Sox 6

Jim Wohlford singled in the decisive run with a sixth inning single and Fran Healy drove in four runs with a homer, triple and double to help the Royals complete a perfect spring at "home" with a 9-6 victory over the Red Sox at Fort Myers, Fla.

Paul Splittorff, the Royals' 20-game winner last year and the pitcher manager Jack McKeon has designated to hurl the regular season opener against the Twins, gave up all six of Boston's runs but was the winner.

Expos 6 Orioles 5

The Expos got to Doyle Alexander for all their runs in beating the Orioles, 6-5, for their fifth straight. Righthander Ernie McAnally, battling for a spot in Montreal's starting rotation, scattered three singles and did not allow an earned run in the seven innings he worked.

Jim Lyttle and Mike Jorgensen, competing for the Expos' left field job, had two hits apiece, Lyttle a homer and a single, and Jorgensen a triple and a double. Rookie outfielder nicked Montreal reliever Bill Stoneman for a three-run homer in the eighth.

Tigers 8 Reds 3

Willie Horton drove in four runs with a single, double and a homer for the Tigers in their 83 win over the Reds. Lefty Don Gullett worked five scoreless innings before Horton cuffed him for a two-run homer during a four-run sixth.

Lerrin LaGrow and Jim Ray spaced six hits. Dave Concepcion's homer off LaGrow was the only hit the Tigers' righthander gave up in the six innings he pitched.

Phillies 9 Pirates 5

Mike Anderson, Willie Montanez and Mike Schmidt all teed off on Dock Elpis for home runs in ths Phillies' 9-5 decision over the Pirates. Ed Farmer, a recent pick-up by the Phils, hurled three-hit ball over five innings and was the winner. Richie Hebner homered for the Pirates.

Yankees 2 Mets 1

Ron Blomberg, who can fly, scored all the way from first base on Craig Nettles' hit-and-run single with the run that gave the Yankees a 2-1 win over the Mets at Fort Lauderdale.

Craig Swann gave up both Yankee runs in the fifth. Pat Dobson, who has allowed only one earned run in 29 innings this spring, pitched shutout ball over the first seven innings to get the victory.

Astros 5 Rangers 4

Playing before 44,017 in the Astrodome, the Astros shaded the Rangers, 5-4, on rookie outfielder Mike Easler's single with the bases full in the ninth inning. It was Easler's third hit of the game.

Tom Griffin, slated to pitch Houston's regular season opener Friday, left Sunday's contest in the fourth when he bruised his finger by getting hit with his own foul ball.

Padres 4 Cubs 3

Willie McCovey rocketed one of Horacio Pina's serves for a 10th inning homer that provided the Padres with a 4-3 triumph over the Cubs. Vicente Romo pitched two scoreless innings in relief and was the winner.

Indians 6 Brewers 2

Back-to-back homers by Charlie Spikes and Dave Duncan gave the Indians a 6-2 verdict over the Brewers at Tucson, Ariz. The winner was Jim Perry but he had to leae the gvame in the sixth when hit on his pitching hand by a liner off George Scott's bat. Perry went to the hospital for precautionary X-rays.

'Biggest upset' at Santa Anita

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI) — Destroyer, with Ismael Valenzuela aboard, pulled off the biggest upset in the history of the Santa Anita Derby Sunday by battling to a head victory over Aloha Mood to win the $130,200 race and earn a shot at the Kentucky Derby.

Kenneth Opstein's Destroyer, who went to the post at 43.90-1, was passed in the upper stretch by Aloha Mood, ridden by Don Pierce, but fought back gamely in the final strides to earn the stunning surprise.

The even-money favorite and previously unbeaten Agitate finished third in the field of eight three-year-olds, a half-length behind runner-up Aloha Mood and a length in front of fourth place Money Lender.

Destroyer ran the mile and one-eighth in 1.48 4-5, well off the stakes record of 1.47 flat set by Lucky Debonair in 1965 and equalled by Sham a year ago.

The winner paid $89.80, $22.40 and $7.20. Aloha Mood returned $6 and $4 and Agitate paid $3.20.

Destroyer, the second-longest shot in the line-up, had won his only two starts as a two years-old at Ak-Sar-Ben in Omaha, Neb. to earn $4,950. This year the bay colt had been winless in five starts, earning only $9,150.

He broke alterly to hold a slim early lead, fighting off Aloha Mood. The two alternated the lead in the stretch but Destroyer pressed on for the win.

Aloha Mood broke flat-footed, found his full stride in the first turn and was close at the end, only to tire in the final strides.

Owner Opstein said that Destroyer will be shipped to Omaha, Neb. and from there will go to Kentucky to begin training for the centennial Kentucky Derby on May 4.

Popovich dealt to Bucs by Cubs

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates announced today the trade of right-hand Pitcher Tom Dettore to the Chicago Cubs for infielder Paul Popovich and an undisclosed amount of cash.

Popovich, the Cubs No. 1 back-up infielder, has played second base, third base, and short-stop. Appearing in 99 games in 1973, he batted .236 with 24 RBIs and 2 home runs. He is 29 and was born in Flemington, West Virginia. He played basketball with Jerry West at the University of West Virginia. He will join the Pirates this week in time for their game with St. Louis on Friday (April 5).

Tom Dettore will join the Cubs at their spring training camp at Scottsdale, Arizona, and will be assigned to Wichita, a Triple A team in the American Association. Last year with the Pirates he was 0-1 with an ERA of 5.87.

Political coach

TORONTO (UPI) — Red Kelly, current coach of the Toronto Maple Leafs, served as a member of the Canadian Parliament from 1962-65.

Allison leads all the way at Hickory

HICKORY, N.C. (UPI) — Bobby Allison, driving a Chevrolet, led all the way in winning Sunday's Hickory 249 stock car race.

Allison started on the pole position and piloted his 366 cubic inch engine car at an average of 72.197 miles per hour for a one-lap victory.

Second place went to local favorite Tommy Houston, who also drove a Chevrolet, and third to Dodge driver Buddy Baker of Charlotte.

Rounding out the top five in the NASCAR Grand National event over the .363 mile Hickory Speedway track were Bobby Isaac in a Chevy and Neil Castles in a Dodge.

The caution flag was out for only 13 of the race's 249 laps, each time for a minor spinout, but mechanical problems took their toll.

Cale Yarborough, driving a 427 cubic inch engine Chevy, dropped out after 75 laps and Benny Parsons fell by the wayside in another Chevy after 150 laps.

Because NASCAR this year has no short track circuit, the race carried no points. The event was trimmed from 276 to 249 laps and the field was reduced from 24 to 22 because of the fuel shortage.

The remainder of the top 10 finishers, in order, were Elmo Langley in a Ford, Richard Brown in a Mercury, Earl Brooks in a Ford, Dick May in a Ford and Ed Negre in a Dodge.

Laver turns back Tanner for crown

PALM DESERT, Calif. (UPI) — At age 35, red-haired Rod "The Rocket" Laver has proved that if he can get his adrenalin up he still has the power at the net and enough of a serve to earn top ranking.

On Sunday at the Ironwood Country Club in the $50,000 Kemper International Desert Tennis Classic, the veteran from Australia turned back upset-minded Roscoe Tanner of Chattanooga, Tenn., 6-4, 6-2.

Laver, now of Corona Del Mar, Calif., earlier in the day had defeated top-seeded Arthur Ashe in a match delayed Saturday because of high winds. They resumed a match that stood 6-7, 7-6 and Laver took the third set, 6-2, to reach the finals.

Then it was a battle of left handers as Laver took on the ambitious 22-year-old Tanner, who had surprised the seeds with a succession of upsets in the tournament.

Laver, first man to win $1 million in tennis explained his victory as, "my adrenalin was up" following the Ashe match.

Trojans 3-0 in Pac-Eight

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Trojans of the University of Southern California are 3-0 in their quest to repeat as Pacific-8 baseball titlists.

On Saturday the Trojans downed California 7-0 on a no-hit performance by Russ McQueen. In the nightcap it was the timely hitting of Ken Huizenga for an 11-4 victory.

The Trojans completed a three-game sweep against the Bears Sunday with a 3-1 win at Dedeaux Field. The game was tied at 1-1 in the bottom of the 4th when outfielder Clayton Tevlin stroked a two-run homer to left.

The Trojans go against the California Angels Tuesday.

Dozen players get annual bad news

By United Press International

A dozen more players got the bad news today that they will not be in major league uniforms when the 1974 big league baseball season opens on Thursday. One of them, John Jeter, balked when given his ticket to the minor leagues.

The 29-year-old Jeter, who hit .241 as a reserve outfielder last year, was one of five players assigned by the Chicago White Sox to their Iowa farm as the pale hose joined other clubs in getting down to the 25-man player limit which goes into effect on opening day.

Jeter, who was obtained by the White Sox two years ago ago from Pittsburgh, told the club he won't report to Iowa and asked them to trade him to another major league team or find him a job playing baseball in Japan.

Catcher Hal King, who hit the home run that was regarded as the turning point in the Cincinnati Reds' season last year, was another veteran given the axe. King, 30 now, split last year between the Reds and their Indianapolis farm club and is being sent back to Indianapolis.

King pinch-hit a three-run homer for the Reds off Don Sutton in the first game of a July 1 doubleheader to beat the Los Angeles, a blow that marked the start of the Reds' climb from 11 games out of first place to the National League West title. King batted only .186 for the Reds, getting only eight hits in 43 pinch at bats, but four of those eight hits were homers.

Here are the players cut Sunday:

Cincinnati—catcher Hal King and pitcher Dick Baney, to Indianapolis.

New York Yankees—infielder Fred Stanley, to Syracuse.

Kansas City—pitcher Steve Mingori, to minor league base for reassignment.

Chicago White Sox—outfielders John Jeter and Bill Sharp, catcher Pete Varney, and pitchers Dave Lemonds and Stan Perzanowski, to Iowa.

Chicago Cubs — Outfielders Jim Tyrone and Gene Hiser and pitcher Willie Prall, to Wichita.

Prep baseball

Cavs, Bonita go up fast

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

A lot can happen in a year. Younger players mature, coaches get wiser, and last year's rebuilding clubs have made their prep slogans 'This is the year.'

One year ago Montclair was 1-3, battling to keep out of the cellar and two-and-a-half games behind league-leading Claremont and Ganesha.

Bonita, meanwhile, wasn't faring much better. The Bearcats had won just one of five games and trailed Alta Loma (5-0) by four games.

Now only a year later both Montclair and Bonita have matured a year and are perched atop their respective leagues.

Tom McFadden's Cavaliers lead the San Antonio League with a 4-0 slate having already disposed of preseason contenders Claremont and Upland, while shutting out struggling Ganesha (1-3) and outslugging Pomona (1-3).

Montclair's pitching has rested in the durable Mike Medeiros (3-1, 2-0) and the determined Brent Jetton (3-1, 2-0). Both are lefthanders and have complimented each other in style while leading the Cavs to an 8-3 overall mark. Medeiros relies on a fastball while Jetton is an off-speed control pitcher.

Shortstop Pat Proulx, third baseman Mike Pittman and catcher Gary Baker provide most of the offense.

The Cavs will get a real test Tuesday when they travel to Damien (2-2) to face the always-tough Spartans.

Matt Kolodge's club, also a vastly improved team, relies on pitching and a pesky offensive attack.

The Spartans' hurling chores are divided between Frank Pastore (2-2, 0-2) and Larry Pekarcik (3-0, 2-0). Both righthanders.

Pastore has thrown back-to-back four hitters, despite losing to Claremont 3-2 and losing to Upland 3-0.

Pekarcik has been most impressive having posted back-to-back one-hitters. In fact both hits have come in the seventh inning.

He blanked Chino 4-0 with the only safety being Randy Hobbs' clean two-out single to center. Friday Pekarcik allowed a bunt to Pomona's Jim Price with one out in the seventh.

Damien doesn't possess any power hitters but second baseman Billy Karr, third baseman Dean Sickles, center fielder Dan Monroe, left fielder John Pignotti and first sacker Steve Schiro have been consistent with the stick.

In other SAL contests Pomona visits Ganesha, Garey travels to Upland and Chino entertains Claremont.

Pomona (2-7, 1-3) has a pair of fine arms in Mark Lambert (2-4, 1-2) and John Wieman (0-2, 0-1) but 14 errors in the four SAL outings have been costly.

Lambert threw a two-hitter Friday and allowed two unearned runs but was bested by Damien's Pekarcik who fired a one-hitter.

Ganesha (1-8, 1-3) have had defensive problems committing 16 errors in league play, including 10 against Garey, but have a fine pitcher in Paul Madrigal (1-2, 0-1) while Tracey Cowger may be the league's top receiver.

Garey, (1-8, 1-3) has a pair of strong arms in Fred Perez (1-5, 1-2) and Dan Ross (0-2, 0-1) but 18 errors have been costly.

Bonita's fortunes rests on the arm of sophomore Billy Bumstead.

The righthand sensation is 6-0 overall and 4-0 in league including four shutouts, three in league, and a no-hitter.

Bumstead had a 22 scoreless inning streak snapped Tuesday in the Bearcats' 9-2 win over Ontario. And then no-hit a tough Alta Loma crew Friday.

LISA FRAMPTON . . . . . competes in Nationals

Leos resume league play

Valley college baseball teams have a busy week scheduled before many of them taper off because of Easter vacation.

La Verne, Claremont-Mudd, and Cal Poly resume conference action this week after concentrating on non-conference foes last week.

Mt. San Antonio take a break from South Coast Conference action while the other two junior colleges, Chaffey and Citrus, continue Mission conference competition.

Azusa Pacific brought its record to 12-7 by sweeping Cal Lutheran, 2-0 and 15-5 Saturday. The Cougars have won eight of their last 10 games.

Tom Nelson's crew will host Pepperdine Wednesday and travel to Cal State Dominquez for two games Saturday.

La Verne (3-0) travels to Occidental (2-1) Tuesday for a Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SCIAC) game. Coach Ben Hines will start his ace, John Verhoeven (4-0).

Verhoeven did not pitch in either of last week's contests. The Leopards played only two games, sweeping Point Loma College, 12-0 and 13-2. That brings the Leos' season record to 10-4.

Mike Alonso, the 6-4, 225-pound designated hitter, raised his season average to .481 with four hits in six at-bats including two doubles and his seventh home run of the year. Alonso batted in five runs.

Oxy will play two games at La Verne Saturday.

Claremont-Mudd (3-0) has not played a conference game since March 9 when the Stags (10-6 overall) defeated Caltech twice, 18-1 and 9-0. Tuesday, they travel to Redlands (3-3).

Sore arms have plagued the Stags. Jim Steffen quit because he couldn't throw at all. Mike Bruno, last year's P-B earned run average winner (1.51) was to see an orthopeeic specialist today. Coach Bill Arce is not at all sure that Bruno will be able to do any more pitching this year.

To complicate matters, reliever Scott Baker, has also been sidelined with a tender flipper.

Ed Matta (3-2) and Brad Rehn (4-2) have had to shoulder most of the pitching burden.

Pomona-Pitzer (4-7) takes a break from conference action after this week after playing and losing six straight (to Whittier and Redlands) in league play.

The Sagehens will play a makeup game with Pacific Christian Tuesday and will host L.I.F.E. Bible College for two seven inning games Friday.

Cal Poly (10-14) plays a non-conference game at Loyola Tuesday. The Broncos resume California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA) action Friday with a single game at Cal State Fullerton. Saturday the Titans play two at Poly.

Dennis Rodgers returned to action for Poly Saturday as the Broncos split a twinbill at University of San Diego. Rodgers, who was hit in the eye in a freak accident while hitting against a pitching machine, was the designated hitter. Although going hitless, he did hit several line drives. He hopes to return to infield duty shortly.

MSAC (18-5) moved to within three games of front-running Cerritos when the Falcons had their 38-game winning streak ended by San Diego Mesa in a split of a doubleheader.

The Mounties visit L.A. Harbor Tuesday.

Chaffey (17-6 overall) won two from Palomar to post a 2-0 mark beginning the second half of a split conference season last week. The Panthers tied Palomar for the first half, each with 9-3 marks. Chaffey hosts Riverside Tuesday and will visit San Diego City College Thursday.

Citrus (12-8 overall and 1-0 in second half competition) hosts San Bernardino Tuesday and visits Southwestern Thursday.

Hustling Atlanta Flames get berth in Stanley Cup playoffs

By United Press International

All hail to the hustling Atlanta Flames, who now own the distinction of having made the Stanley Cup playoffs quicker than any other expansion team in the National Hockey League's entire history.

Only in their second year of existence, the Flames made the playoffs Sunday night despite being beaten, 4-2, by the Penguins in Pittsburgh.

The previous best showing by any expansion team was made by the Buffalo Sabres last season when they made the playoffs in their third year of operation.

The Flames were leading the Penguins, 2-0, on a pair of goals by Larry Romanchych Sunday night when they learned that Minnesota's 6-1 defeat at the hands of Buffalo had given them the fourth and final spot in the league's West Division.

A natural letdown followed and the Penguins poured in four goals in the final period, two by defensemen Ab DeMarco and one each by Ron Schock and Chuck Arnason.

Rookie Tom Lysiak, whose all-around fine play sparked the Flames all season, assisted on Romanchych's first goal as did Jacques Richard. Romanchych's second goal was unassisted.

The Montreal Canadiens clinched second place in the East Division with a 5-2 victory over Los Angeles. Jim Roberts whipped in what proved to be the winning goal for the Canadiens and had an assist also.

Pierre Plante put in a rebound in the final seven minutes to give the St. Louis Flyers a 2-2 tie with the Chicago Black Hawks. It was Chicago's 23rd tie of the season, one short of the league record set by Philadelphia three years ago.

Craig Ramsay paced the Sabres to their victory over the North Stars with a goal and two assists. Rick Martin chipped in with his 48th goal of the season for the sabres.

Second year man Don Lever's first NHL hat trick powered Vancouver to a lopsided 7-0 victory over the limping California Golden Seals, Ken Hodge came up with his 48th and 49th goals in Boston's 6-1 triumph over Detroit and Ted Irvine's goal midway through the second period earned the New York Rangers a 3-3 tie with the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Sports news in brief

RON BRYANT, 24-game winner for the San Francisco Giants will be placed on the disabled list. The club made the announcement Sunday after walloping the Oakland A's, 13-4.

The Giants will try to get the National League office to date the injury March 15, thereby possibly reactivating Bryant only six games deep into the season.

Bryant, the league's winningest pitcher last year, injured his right side in a swimming pool accident in Palm Springs March 12 and has not pitched since then.

CLAUDIE WATSON, former Ontario High and Chaffey HC star, ran a sizzling 21.0 220-yard dash Saturday as Cal State Los Angeles routed Cal State Bakersfield 105-11 in a non-league track meet.

TWO PRO FOOTBALL PLAYERS, wide receiver Ron Sellers of the Miami Dolphins and linebacker LeRoy Jordan of the Dallas Cowboys, teamed Sunday to win the first pro football tennis championships.

The pair defeated Los Angles Rams' tight end Bob Klein and Cowboys' center Dave Manders in a 10-game tie breaker.

BILLIE JEAN KING, world's leading female tennis player, Sunday took a 2-1 lead over poker-faced Chris Evert in their 1974 series by beating the teen-ager, 6-3, 3-6, 6-2 in the final of the S&H National Women's Indoor Tennis Tournament.

DICK STOCKTON overwhelmed ailing Jiri Hrebic of Czechoslovakia, 6-2, 6-1, Sunday to win the Peachtree Corners WCT blue group tennis tourney. Hrebec had pulled a groin muscle Saturday.

ALL AMERICAN JOHN SHUMATE of Notre Dame will lead the East tonight in the Pizza Hut Classic all-star basketball game at Las Vegas. The 6-9 center has revealed he'll pass up his final year of eligibility to turn pro.

Digger Phelps of Notre Dame will coach the East and Arizona State's Ned Wulk will lead the West.

JULIE SIMPSON was named MVP in the National Women's Basketball Tournament at Gallup, New Mexico. But Miss Simpson's team, John F. Kennedy College of Wahoo, Neb., lost the championship game to the Hutcherson Flying Queens of Plainview, Tex., 54-51, Saturday.

NEW YORK UNIVERSITY won its 11th NCAA fencing championship Saturday in the 30th annual event at Case Western Reserve in Cleveland, Ohio.

BILL SEEBOLD of St. Louis won the endurance boat race on the Colorado River Sunday, averaging just under 93 mph for 50 laps. 76 boats started and only 25 finished.

MILER CHUCK LABENZ of Arizona State signed a professional contract with the ITT. Labenz has run the mile in 3:56.8.

Bob Short could be rich man soon

DALLAS (UPI) — Depending on who you listen to, Bob Short could be a very rich man this week.

And the Texas Rangers, which have had the worst record in the major leagues the past two seasons, could have new owners.

Bradford G. Corbett, the Fort Worth industralist who heads a combine which says it has a commitment for 90 per cent of Short's sole ownership, gave reporters two different versions of the status of negotiations during the weekend.

In his first appearance on the scene since the sale talk surfaced Corbett said he didn't think the sale would be finalized until sometime after opening day of the season next Thursday.

But later Corbett was reported by the Dallas Morning News as saying, "We plan to deliver the money to Short on Monday."

It wasn't clear whether he was speaking of the $9 million the combine has promised to pay for all but 10 per cent of the Rangers, or whether he was referring to a stipulated sum in an escrow account that would serve as a down payment until all the financial details were firmed up.

Sources close to Corbett said Short would be in Dallas today to meet with the Corbett group and that certain moneys would be deposited in an escrow account.

Corbett had been in New York all last week, and prior to his appearance at a Texas Sports Hall of Fame Foundation dinner all of the talking had been done by associates in the combine —and to a certain degree, Short himself.

Short, who moved the financially troubled Washington Senators to the Dallas-Fort Worth area three years ago, has insisted two groups — Corbett's and one headed by Houston financier Reuben Askanace —had equal shots at buying the club.

Corbett described as "wild rumors" reports that his group planned to turn over the general managership of the Rangers to Dick Butler, a former Texas League president who now is supervisor of umpires for the American League.

Claremonter earns berth in Nationals

CLAREMONT — Lisa Frampton, a 1973 graduate of Claremont High, has qualified to compete in the Women's Gymnastic Nationals in Sacramento Friday and Saturday.

Frampton is the only freshman on the varsity team at Long Beach State to qualify in the Regionals held in San Diego. She took a third place on her team with her floor exercise and a fifth place overall.

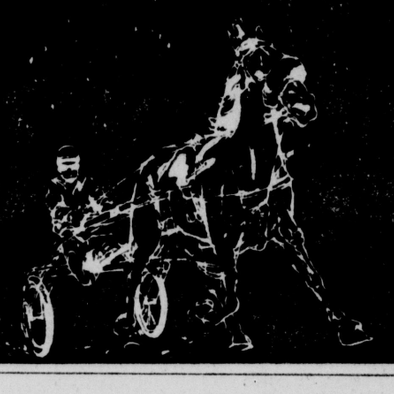

The Nationals will be shown on ABC's Wide World of Sports.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Frampton.

HOLLYPARK ON TARGET —It may be as tight as some of those patented summery afternoon photo finishes, but those in command say Hollywood Park will be ready to open on schedule April 10 when the 75-day thoroughbred meet is slated to start.

Plant superintendent Keith Humphrey and architects Roger Duell, Ira West, Clay Muellens and Carl Sawyer, involved in carrying out a multitude of plant changes, are insistent that all will be in readiness when the starting bell rings.

Hollywood Park's current improvements, part of an overall five-year plan, will run in the neighborhood of $1 million and include a major paint facelift, a new paddock, added eating facilities, new grandstand seating, an enlarged turf club and a long list of other major changes.

AUTO WINS — The automobile got the best of the horse at Los Alamitos — at least on Sundays.

Southern California Racing association brass finally called off their Sunday night experiment after it became evident that the gasoline problems on a Sunday night were insurmountable.

S.C.R.A. is averaging 6,606 per night during the 1974 season, but the three Sunday twilight cards averaged only 5,826.

So, it's back to a Monday-through-Saturday schedule at Los Alamitos and probably a lot less headaches for both track management and the fans.

★ ★ ★

COSTLY MOVES — Drivers at the S.C.R.A. night harness meeting at Los Alamitos are finding that driving too slowly can be tough on the pocketbook.

Stewards have cracked down on drivers who "go an excessively slow pace" and already have slapped three teamsters with fines for setting "snail-like" paces.

Jim Dennis and Richard McGongagle have each been hit for $50 while Gene Vallandingham was slapped with a $50 fine for his first offense and $100 for his second violation. The stewards normally use a quarter in more than :33 as grounds for a fine.

The judges have also meted out four five-day driving suspensions to reinsmen guilty of interference.

Recipients of extended 'vacations' to date are Ken Cartnal, Charlie Campbell, Gerry Longo and Glen Holt.

★ ★ ★

FAVORTIE JINX — Trainer Charlie Whittingham, although he won the Santa Barbara handicap with Tallahto, has failed in seven Santa Anita Stakes with big-name favorites.

Linda's Chief missed as the public choice in the Strub, Malibu and San Fernando Stakes.

La Zanzara, second as the choice in the Santa Barbara, also failed to visit the winner's circle as the favorite in the Santa Margarita.

Quack, the third big gun from Charlie's ammunition rack, failed to fire with winning shots in both the Santa Anita Handicap and the San Luis Rey.

★ ★ ★

ALL IN THE FAMILY — It was one of those family affairs last Sunday night at Los Alamitos.

Driver Ted Dennis won three races and his brother Jim took another. In two of Ted's victories, Jim was second.

Doug Ackerman accounted for the feature race Sunday aboard Hoover after his 17-year-old daughter, Connie, had won the second Powder Puff Derby for women drivers aboard Sunbonnet earlier in the evening.

DID YOU KNOW . . .

That trainer Jay Robbins, son of the prominent vegetarian, Jack Robbins, was married last Saturday and ended his o-for-20 streak on Sunday when he sent out O.K. Holme for a $28 upset in the seventh race?

That Ancient Title has worked twice on the grass at Santa Anita and may make his first turf start in the Lakeside Handicap, worth $50,000, on April 14 at Hollypark?

That last Sunday's crowd of 38,307 was the second largest Sabbath of the meeting with the 52,000 throng that attended the Santa Anita Handicap holding the record?

That Big 'Cap winner Prince Dantan has bolted in his last two workouts, forcing trainer Pancho Martin to seriously consider bypassing the San Juan Capistrano and sending the horse East?

That Laffit Pincay has purchased his own private and portable sweat box that he has stored in the Santa Anita jockeys room?

That Tallahto, winner of the Santa Barbara Handicap, wears plastic ear muffs in the paddock so that she isn't bothered by the blaring TV monitors carrying the race replays?

That owner Fred W. Hooper has won important stakes races at Golden Gate with Visualizer, Goddess Roman and Special Goddess already this season?

Parachute causes fatal drag accident

CHARLOTTE (UPI) — A faulty parachute led to a weekend drag racing accident that killed veteran driver Dave Anderson of Minneapolis and injured two mechanics.

Anderson's dragster went out of control at 248 miles per hour Saturday during qualifying runs for the $100,000 Southern National Drag Race Championships.

The 761-pound car struck David Oxendine, 23, of Charlotte and Red Jackson, 26, of Myrtle Beach, S. C., and then smashed into a concrete retaining wall.

Another mechanic, Charles Raugh, 36, of Fort Wayne, Ind., was treated for burns at Cabarrus County Hospital.

Anderson was making a qualifying run for the championship, inaugural event of the 1974 International Hot Rod Association season.

Kennedy Safford of Chicago was victorious in the Funny Car division, Dale Funk of Radcliff, Ky., in the top fuel division and Wwayne Gapp of Lovonia, Mich., in the pro stock division Sunday.

Safford edged Shirl Greer of Warner Robbins, Ga., although Greer had a higher top speed. Safford was clocked at 163.63 miles per hour, Greer at 169.17 mph.

Funk defeated Pat Dakin of Dayton, Ohio, in a race so close that electronic timing lights at the finish line determined the winner.

Gapp had a record performance of 5.80 seconds and a top speed of 123.11 mph to beat Roy Hill of High Point, N. C.

Anderson, 43, was a 21-year veteran of drag racing and holder of 13 international records set last year in his car at the Bonneville Salt Flats.

The car, called the "Pollution Packer," used a hydrogen peroxide powered rocket engine that developed 3,000 pounds of thrust.

Anderson and car owner Tony Fox had planned to return this year to Bonneville for a crack at the world land speed record of 622 mph held by Gary Gabelich.

Officers return at Hollypark

INGLEWOOD — Vernon O. Underwood, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Hollywood Turf Club, and Mervyn LeRoy, president, this week were reelected.

Underwood, who is president of Young's Market Company, is a 23-year member of the Hollypark board and has held his present post since November, 1972.

Drag boating races prove dangerous

LONG BEACH (UPI) — The accident-marred California Drag Boat Championships cost a diver his leg Sunday. May Rife of Long Beach and Mac Christensen of Norwalk were the top competitors.

Peter Bremier, 33, Garden Grove, had to have his left leg amputated when one of the speed boats lost control and plowed into his patrol boat, sinking it and trapping him, at the Long Beach Marine Stadium.

Bob Jordan of Fremont was thrown clear when he lost control of his boat "tazmanian Devil". Bremier was serving on the patrol boat as a diver when the accident occurred. He was taken to Long Beach Community Hospital in critical condition.

Miss Rife set a world women's speed record when she was clocked at 156.62 miles an hour in her boat "Proud Mary."

Christensen was the winner of the top class, blown fuel hydros, turning in a speed of 182.36 mph.

In another accident, John Burrows of Reno suffered hip injuries when the engine in his blown fuel hydro "Executioner" blew up at 181 m.p.h. Burrows was thrown free as the boat flew into the air and disintegrated. He had just won his qualifying heat when the accident occurred.

In the first race of the day, Hershel Qualls "Panic VI" flipped, throwing the Modesto man free. He suffered minor injuries.

Gary Owens of Canoga Park escaped injuries when his boat "The Streaker" went out of control and ran up on the rocks.

Half the proceeds of the event went to the Southern California Kidney Foundation.

Trojan swimmers national champs

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — The University of Southern California, second to Indiana four times during its six year reign of NCAA swimming, has toppled the Hoosier dynasty by one slim point to become the 1974 champion.

The Trojans took a first day lead over Indiana and top contender Tennessee in the three-day event and staved off an 11th hour Hoosier rush to win the competition Saturday 339-338 at the Belmont Plaza Olympic pool.

USC's John Naber set the pace for the Trojans by establishing an American, NCAA and meet record in the 200-yard backstroke at 1:48.95 to eclipse his own 1973 mark of 1:49.84.

On the second day of competition Naber set an American, NCAA and meet record of 50.51 in the 100-yard backstroke. And on the first day he won the 500-yard freestyle and upset three-time NCAA champion John Kinsella of Indiana.

The final day of the championship competition, held in California for the first time in half a century, was marked by Stanford's John Hencken setting an American, NCAA and meet record with 2:01.74 in the 200-yard breaststroke, erasing the 1972 record of another Stanford swimmer, Brian Job.

Indiana was the heavy favorite going into the championships, but Hoosier coach James "Doc" Counsilman said his team's disqualification in the 400-yard medley relay Thursday was the key to the dethroning the midwest powerhouse.

"We gave up 32 points on our disqualification," he said. "That was the key to the meet. How we ever got going after that first day I'll never know. All in all, I'm really proud of my swimmers.

More than 500 athletes from 92 schools took part in the competition.

Following USC and Indiana in the final team scoring were Tennessee 250, Washington 214, UCLA 190 and Stanford 101.

Los Angeles, Moscow bid

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (UPI) — The International Olympic Committee today announced the names of the two cities vying for the 1980 Summer Games and the three resorts competing for the Winter Games the same year.

Los Angeles and Moscow are the candidates for the Summer Games, the 22nd, and Chamonix, France, Lake Placid, N.Y., and Vancouver-Garibaldi, Canada, want the 13th Winter Games.

The IOC said midnight Sunday was the deadline for candidates.

The IOC said each candidate would make its presentation to the 75th Session of the Committee in Vienna on Oct. 22.

The Assembly will vote on the sites Oct. 23, officials said.

Toros nip Sharks, 5-4

By United Press International

The Cleveland Crusaders and the Toronto Toros are safely berthed in the playoffs of the World Hockey Association.

The Crusaders, in second place in the East, officially wrapped up their spot in the post-season play with a 4-2 victory over the Jersey Knights Sunday, while the third-place Toros nipped the Los Angeles Sharks (5-4) to nail down their place.

Two goals by Skip Krake, the first breaking a 1-1 tie and the other the eventual winner, were the big factor in the Crusaders' victory. Cleveland led 3-2 in the late going when Ron Ward scored the wrapup goal into an empty net with 10 seconds left.

The Toros and Sharks were tied at 4-4 in their game at Toronto when rookie Pat Hickey beat goalie Paul Hoganson at close range for the winning goal, his 26th of the season, at 14:11 of the third period.

In other Sunday games:

Fran Huck scored at 2:00 of sudden death overtime on a pass from Bobby Hull, who had scored two goals, to give the Winnipeg Jets a 4-3 victory over the Vancouver Blazers.

Campaign reform bill faces rough sledding in Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three bumpy roads lie ahead for the campaign reform bill, now before the Senate. The measure, a direct result of Watergate, would provide public financing for all federal election campaigns at a cost of about $90 million a year.

The first barrier is a threatened fiiibuster by Sen. James B. Allen of Alabama. He is out to do what he did to a public financing measure last year: talk it to death. Allen notes that 17 Senators spoke against the 1973 measure. He acknowledges not all would join a talkathon, but he claims the support of perhaps a dozen senators, enorgh to keep a filibuster alive for weeks.

Allen says the Senate should be in no hurry to act on campaign reform before the Senate Watergate Committee issues its report. That won't be until the last week in May.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield is determined to shut off the debate long before then, even though it probably will mean imposing a gag rule—which requires a two-thirds majority. In any case, Mansfield says he will not allow a filibuter to paralyze Senate operations.

After about a week of campaign reform debate, Mansfield intends to put the senate on a two-track system, alternating between that measure and no-fault automobile accident insurance.

Allen is not holding all the cards he did last year. It was near the end of the session then and the senators, anxious to go home for Christmas, were willing to put the issue aside on the promise that a new bill would be brought out this session. This time there is no way to avoid the showdown.

Every filibuster has a fallback position — compromise. Even now there is talk the supporters of public financing will have to accept a greater mix of public and private money than the bill would allow. Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, once a backer of full public financing, has hinted he may shift toward such a compromise.

If and when the reform bill clears the Senate, it starts up a second bumpy road—House opposition from powerful Democrat Rep. Wayne Hays of Ohio. Hays doubles as chairman of the committee that handles campaign bills and chairman of the committee that raises private contributions for democratic congressional candidates. He has yet to say a nice word about public financing.

Hays has been sitting on another Senate-passed campaign reform bill since early last year, and is only now permitting it to be considered. That bill would fix limits on political contributions and spending. Weary of the delay, senators incorporated its provisions in the public financing measure.

Hays is not alone by any means. There is substantial House opposition to the Senate measure.

Depend on us for high interest on Certificates of Deposit.

We offer a Certificate of Deposit that earns 7¼% annual interest—the highest allowed by law. That's a full ¼% higher than many other banks in California. Your minimum investment is just $1,000 and you select the maturity—anywhere from 4 to 10 years. Regardless of what happens with other interest rates, you've locked in this high yield and Bank of America will continue to pay you 7¼% annually for the entire term. Rain or shine.

Wouldn't you feel better investing with Bank of America? Safe and secure? More Californians save with us than any other bank.

Besides our 4 to 10 year Certificate, we offer many other plans with different interest rates for different periods of time. We'll help you choose the right plan to meet your individual needs. That's important, because Federal law prohibits withdrawals on Certificates of Deposit and Investors Passbook Accounts prior to maturity unless three months of the interest thereon is forfeited and interest on the amount withdrawn is reduced to the regular savings rate.

For high yield and safety, depend on us. More Californians do.

Personal, courteous service.
